

Opposition To Italian As Pope Gains Strength

Merry Del Val, Spaniard, Leads Campaign to Break Papal Ascendancy Custom

GERMAN MAY BE APPOINTED

Mourning for Deceased Church Head Continues — Many View Body in State

By Henry Wood
By United Press Leased Wire
Rome—Efforts to choose a pope from outside the ranks of Italian cardinals have been put under way in a formal campaign, the Popolo Romano stated Wednesday.

The paper brings forward prominently the possibility that a German may be chosen to succeed the late Benedict XV.

The Popolo Romano article aroused particular interest because the same paper had previously denied all reports that any campaign to choose other than an Italian for the papacy was being made.

Cardinal Merry Del Val, papal secretary of state under Pope Pius X, is directing the campaign to break the tradition of choosing an Italian. Merry Del Val, Spaniard, is one of the candidates for the papacy.

JESUITS ASSIST

The cardinal is being assisted, the paper states, by the Jesuit order which kept in the background during Benedict's pontificate because of the latter's conciliatory policy. The Jesuit General L. Lochowsky, it is stated, is canvassing all cardinals as they arrive in Rome for the late pope's funeral and later for the meeting of the Sacred college to select a new pope. This has been set for Feb. 2.

Other Italian papers also show the most intense interest in Benedict's successor and the role that the cardinals outside Italy are likely to play in making the choice.

Many papers, however, discount the belief that a German is likely to be chosen by expressing fear that the conclave of cardinals will develop an allied pro-German alignment in which the national interests of the former belligerent nations will play a prominent part. This would delay action by the conclave and hold up the selection of a new pope.

COLLEGE MAY SPLIT

Another possible division in the Sacred college between the cardinals favoring Benedict's policy of reconciliation with Italy and those led by Merry Del Val, who are against this policy and favor a restoration of the temporal power of the papacy also is being discussed.

This discussion already has brought the charge—which was promptly denied—that Merry Del Val has protested the Italian government taking part in the pope's funeral.

While the discussion of Benedict's successor went on, undiminished multitudes Wednesday continued to pay their homage to the dead pope. At 9 o'clock Wednesday a large crowd assembled outside St. Peter's awaiting opening of the doors. The body will be on view until 3:30 p. m. Wednesday. Thursday the actual interment will take place, according to a definite decision reached Tuesday.

The Sacred college fixed the time for the pope's funeral Thursday at 3:30 p. m. It was officially announced.

RITES CONTINUE

The second day of the funeral service was celebrated with increasing solemnity.

The press is carrying on a warm debate as to whether Cardinal Gasparri, papal secretary of state, communicated news of the pope's death to the Italian government.

This discussion proceeds along with that of whether the new pope shall be from the group that favors closer relations with the government, or from the conservatives who favor a restoration of the temporal power of the papacy.

Notification of the Italian government by the Vatican that the pope had died would result in official relations, it is argued. The Giornale Italia insists that the government's order closing schools and theaters and ordering flags at half mast followed a communication from the Vatican. Other papers are divided on the subject.

BUILDERS DEBATE ON GRAVELED ROADS

Construction Problems Occupy Attention of State Highway School in Madison

Madison—Road construction and contractors held the floor Wednesday at the program of the third day of the eleventh annual road school of the Wisconsin highway commission at the state capitol here.

A. R. Hirst, state highway engineer, was scheduled to give the feature address of the day, speaking on "Co-operative Highway Work" late in the afternoon.

Wednesday's program consists of a debate on the question "Resolved that for an expected traffic of less than 500 vehicles a day for the summer average, a gravel road should be built rather than a concrete road." Four men will speak on each side.

Half Frozen Boys Rescued From Ledge

By United Press Leased Wire
St. Paul—Two boys marooned on a 2-foot ledge above a 60-foot cliff, were half frozen when firemen rescued them late Tuesday.

On their way home from school, Clarence Vadnais, and John Behan, both 12, slipped over the edge of the bluff above Channel-st. and slid 100 feet to the narrow ledge which saved them from certain death. There they clung until a fireman with ladder and rope rescued them. Their hands and feet were frozen and both had to be carried to the ground.

SLIM CHANCE FOR 'FATTY' TO CHARM JURY WITH TALK

Testimony from First Trial is Read to Jury Purposely by Prosecution

By United Press Leased Wire
San Francisco—A speedy conclusion of the case of Roscoe (Fatty) Arbuckle is looked for with the report Wednesday that Arbuckle's attorneys have decided not to put him on the stand in his own defense.

While nothing official has been given out by Arbuckle's attorneys on the subject, it is known from informal remarks made by Gavin McNab, Arbuckle's chief counsel, that the defense thinks it would be a waste of time to let the accused comedian take the stand at this trial after all of his testimony at the first trial has already been read to the jury by the prosecution.

The prosecution admittedly obtained permission to read Arbuckle's testimony at the first trial to the present jury in order to reduce the effect that his personality or manner of testifying might have, should he take the stand.

STATE USES ADVANTAGE

Incidentally the reading gave Assistant District Attorney Friedman a chance to place his own emphasis on various portions of the testimony unfavorable to Arbuckle.

The defense will probably ask leave Wednesday, it is understood, to read into the record the report of the neutral committee of noted physicians appointed at the time of the last trial to examine the body of Virginia Happe.

The committee at that time reported that Miss Happe had been suffering from a chronic ailment which spontaneously might have caused the injury which brought about her death.

MILWAUKEE A. C. PLANS TRADE TRIP

Business Men Decide Annual Jaunt Will Go as Far North as Fond du Lac-co.

By United Press Leased Wire
Milwaukee—With a view of formulating plans for the 1922 trade trip through the midwest, more than 200 manufacturers and business men, members of the Association of Commerce, attended the first annual trade trip and reunion dinner at Hotel Pflister here Tuesday night.

The cities which the members are expecting to include in the trip are Racine, Kenosha, Elgin, Ill., Belvidere, Ill., Rockford, Ill., Freeport, Ill., Beloit, Janesville, Fort Atkinson, Jefferson, Johnson Creek, Watertown, Juneau, Fond du Lac, Ripon, Princeton, Calvary, Plymouth, Sheboygan Falls, Kohler, Manitowoc, Two Rivers and Sheboygan.

This schedule has not been fully completed and it is probable that other cities will be added to the list.

VOTE ON RETURN TO PACKING PLANTS

By United Press Leased Wire
Chicago—Union employees of packing houses throughout the country, who have been on strike for several weeks, will vote Thursday on whether they will return to work.

Dennis Lane, secretary-treasurer of the union advised all locals to complete their vote this week.

Packers have never recognized the strike and plants in some cities have been able to remain in operation. In other packing centers, the strike was more effective.

Riots marked the strike in several cities.

TREATY FOES BAR U. S. FROM GENOA CONFAB

Threaten Defeat for Pacts if Administration Goes to Economic Conference

JOHNSON LEADING FIGHT

Senate Ratification Will Come too Late for America to Have Voice

By David Lawrence
(Copyright, 1922, by Post Pub. Co.)
Washington—Just why the United States government will not be represented officially at the economic conference to be held at Genoa in March is for the moment the most interesting story in the capital.

No one reason but a combination of circumstances have prevented President Harding from accepting on behalf of the United States the invitation recently extended by the allies to help reconstruct Europe and indirectly to economic situation of the whole world.

First, the "isolation bloc" in the United States senate has served notice that if the administration insists on going to Genoa, it can expect serious opposition to ratification of the treaties and conventions adopted at the Washington conference on armament.

Second, the administration is discouraged over the refusal of France to discuss reparations at Genoa, an adjustment of which is regarded as essential to economic recuperation everywhere.

MUST BACK PROMISES

Third, unless the United States government can make good the promises and agreements entered into by the executive branch of the government and present to the world fully ratified treaties, America's word at international conferences in the future will be of little avail.

Ever since the return of Senator Hiram Johnson from a trip to California, the "isolation bloc" consisting of the original "irreconcilables" who fought the Versailles treaty plus a few others from the Democratic side of the chamber have constituted an opposition formidable enough to prevent ratification of the four-power treaty as well as other pacts adopted by the Washington conference.

Mr. Johnson's announced opposition has stiffened the backs of some of his wavering colleagues. Senator Brandegee, an original irreconcilable, told the White House feeling against meddling in Europe's affairs was still strong in the senate and that it was going to be difficult getting a treaty through which dealt with Pacific affairs.

AWAIT RATIFICATION

President Harding will not, of course, say publicly that he is refusing to go to Genoa because of the situation in the senate but he is saying that until the Washington conference has completed its work, there's no use talking about other international conferences. By completing its work is not meant merely the adjournment of the main conference, that's only the beginning. It means ratification of the treaties by the senate. For when the Washington conference is over, it will have reached merely the same point as the Versailles peace conference—the critics then begin their work of dissection and analysis. The senate is keeping quiet till the whole set of treaties is submitted. Then the biggest question of all will be answered—whether the executive branch of the government and the Republican administration can do any more in handling the senate on foreign policy than a Democratic administration. The drive for ratification has not begun but the first victory has been won by the isolation bloc which has already obtained the approval of the White House to its plans for the consideration of peace matters first and treaties afterward.

PALMER GLAD BOSCH PROBE IS DEMANDED

Says Senate Committee Already Has Facts About Sale of Big Magneto Plant

By United Press Leased Wire
Washington—Former Attorney General A. Mitchell Palmer, whose sale as alien property custodian of the Bosch Magneto properties will be investigated by a grand jury in Boston, said Wednesday that he welcomed the inquiry.

Charges that the sale to Martin E. Kern of Allentown, Pa., for about $4,000,000, was at too low a figure, have been placed before the department of justice, and as the result, it was learned Wednesday, indictments have been prepared which will be presented to the grand jury if the evidence warrants.

"I welcome the inquiry," Palmer said. "Those charges were thoroughly investigated by a senate committee when my nomination for attorney general was before the senate for confirmation. The senate obtained complete information about the transaction."

Major Miller flew to Fort William more than two weeks ago to join a search for James Maher, who disappeared in an open motor boat enroute from Grand Portage to Port Arthur. No clue was found.

Cupid Got His Music Teacher; Tried Murder

By United Press Leased Wire
Chicago—When Felix Borowski, composer and president of the Chicago Music college married, he lost his genius and the fire which inspired his art, Raymond Obendorf, a former pupil claimed Wednesday in explaining an attack made upon the professor and his bride.

Obendorf declared that after Borowski married Elsa Kanne, Peoria, a pupil, "his art was nothing—he was everything."

"When he married he killed within me the fire which produced my great music. While I had great promise before, now I am a pianist in a movie theater."

Obendorf attacked Borowski and his bride at their home here with a revolver. After Borowski had ejected him from the home before he could shoot, police took the youth into custody. At the station Obendorf attempted to shoot a desk sergeant but he revolver was knocked from his hand.

POWERS NEAR AN AGREEMENT ON SHANTUNG

End of Arms Conference in Sight as Pacific Problem Nears Solution

By A. L. Bradford
By United Press Leased Wire
Washington—The Shantung question is on the verge of settlement, it was learned authoritatively Wednesday.

A settlement of Shantung, for years one of the most serious questions of the Far East, is considered of vast importance to the Washington conference. It was this question which largely contributed to the defeat of the Versailles treaty in the American senate, and many have believed that the senate would not accept the treaties growing out of the present conference, if Shantung is not settled in Washington now.

LAST BIG PROBLEM

Shantung is today the sole unsolved major problem of the conference and the end of the conference for the first time is definitely in sight. The best guess now is the latter part of next week.

The naval treaty lacks only the finishing touches and inclusion of article XIX—the Pacific fortifications clause. On this a compromise has been reached, as stated Tuesday by the United Press. The Bonin Islands will be regarded as part of the Japanese homeland—a concession to Japanese pride—but in turn Japan will agree that they not be fortified.

Today, however, must O. K. this final arrangement, making for a delay of a few days.

The four power treaty's scope will be defined by an exchange of notes, as already stated, so that its operation will exclude the mainland of Japan. Drafting of the nine power treaty on China is expected to require a short time, as this work will mainly be to insert the texts of the Root and other resolutions, already definitely approved.

PUSH BONUS BILL DESPITE WARNING

Mellon Tells Congress Country Faces Deficit of $300,000,000 for Two Years

Washington—Despite the continued and emphatic opposition of Secretary of the Treasury Mellon, who points out that without a soldier bonus the government confronts a deficit of $300,000,000 during the next two years, Republican senate and house leaders in a conference Wednesday made plans to speed up this measure.

In these circumstances, Secretary of the Treasury Mellon warns, economy is essential and any soldier bonus payment bill will mean big increases in taxes. There is no certainty and warrant for paying the bonus out of possible receipts from foreign debts.

Mellon said in a letter to Chairman Forney of the ways and means committee.

FLIERS SAFE BUT MAHER IS UNFOUND

By United Press Leased Wire
Duluth, Minn.—Major Ray Miller of St. Paul and his mechanic Lieut. Joe Westover, are safe, according to word here early Wednesday.

Fears were felt that their airplane had crashed on Lax Lake, 18 miles from Little Marais. They made a safe landing there late Tuesday afternoon, however, and went to a farmhouse to spend the night. They were expected to hop off early Wednesday and reach Duluth about 10 o'clock.

Major Miller flew to Fort William more than two weeks ago to join a search for James Maher, who disappeared in an open motor boat enroute from Grand Portage to Port Arthur. No clue was found.

Negro Deaths Told At A. E. F. Hearing

Former Colored Private Tells Senate Committee of Murder by Major of Doughboy Who Protested Against Kitchen Duty.

Washington—Additional charges of American soldiers being wrongfully shot and beaten in the A. E. F. were laid before the senate investigating committee as hearings on the Watson charges were resumed Wednesday.

The direct charge that Major Joe Phillips, negro, of Orange, N. J., shot down a colored private named William Patterson, who "talked back" to him, was made by Henry Gentry, colored former doughboy of Lawrence, Kansas.

"Major Phillips ordered Patterson to go on kitchen police duty," the witness said, "but Patterson protested, saying he had been at kitchen work for three days and was sick. He begged for permission to go on sick report."

SHOT IN KITCHEN

"When Patterson finally started for the kitchen the major followed him and shot him through the side. I was five feet away and helped carry Patterson out. He was taken to the hospital and never came back."

Major Phillips was never tried for the shooting, the witness said. "Gentry, who served with a military police company, told a startling story of soldier prisoners being beaten by guards."

"It was common practice where I was," he declared, "for the guards to strip prisoners, tie their hands about their heads and beat them into insensibility with knotted ropes and clubs. They were hauled away to the hospital and some of them we never saw again. I don't know whether they died or not."

BELIEVE MISSING SHAWANO TEACHER ILL IN HOSPITAL

Statewide Search is Pushed by Authorities to Explain Disappearance Jan. 6

Shawano—Belief that Miss Cora Simonson, Shawano county superintendent of schools, is ill in some hotel or hospital between here and Chicago, is one of the theories advanced as to the whereabouts of the missing school teacher Wednesday.

Miss Simonson disappeared Jan. 6 and has not been heard of since although police throughout Wisconsin have searched for her.

Miss Simonson, it was said, had been given a short leave of absence to recover from an illness and had expressed her intention of going to her home at Wittenburg. It is thought she decided later to go to visit one of her sisters instead, and became too ill while enroute to complete her journey and now may be in some hospital between Shawano and Chicago.

The missing woman has sisters living at Menasha and Kenosha, Wis., and at Chicago.

GLEW IN CHICAGO

Chicago—Chicago authorities Wednesday attempted to link the identity of the girl who was found dead in a bathtub at the Y. W. C. A. here recently with that of Miss Cora Simonson, superintendent of schools at Shawano, Wis., missing since Jan. 6.

The initialed handkerchief of the girl found dead here—the only portion of her clothing that bore a mark—had the letter "S" in a corner.

The girl found here was between 30 and 35 years of age and weighed 135 pounds. She had a stubby nose, Auburn hair, was plump and short and had false gold teeth on the upper right side.

She wore a brown hat, blue silk dress, cotton stockings, brown slippers, cotton undergarments and pink corsets.

ALDERMEN AND JITNEYS KICKED OUT BY WOMEN

Kenosha Adopts Manager Form of Government and Abolishes Jitney in Election

Special to the Post-Crescent
Kenosha—Women voted overwhelmingly for adoption of manager form of city government and abolition of jitneys in a special election here Tuesday. The city manager form was adopted by a majority of 772 and the jitneys were voted down by a majority of 1,841.

Women voters had perfected a secret organization and a vast majority of them voted. They returned an immense majority for the city manager form and voted about 5 to 1 against the jitneys.

The street railway company, in a pre-election statement, declared that either the company or the jitneys would leave—both could not exist. The voters decided to keep the street cars.

Service provided by the street cars here, has been good but the company has been losing money and has been unable to make necessary extensions.

ACTRESS' MOTHER HELD FOR SHOOTING

Movie Director, Shot from Ambush, Accuses Mother-in-law of Deed

Los Angeles—A blood soaked shirt-waist, a blood stained handkerchief and two bullets form the first three links in the chain of evidence which police are endeavoring to draw around Mrs. Mattie Hannon, mother-in-law of Paul Kramer, movie director, who was mysteriously shot from ambush in Hollywood Monday night.

Mrs. Hannon was held by the police Wednesday, with an entry opposite her name on the jail register specifying she is held on suspicion of assault with a deadly weapon.

Winifred Kramer, pretty 20-year-old wife of the wounded man, has been questioned by the police. She declared she knows who shot her husband, but cannot prove it.

Kramer hovers near death at the county hospital with four bullet wounds in his head and another in his hand. At the hospital, while his wounds were being dressed he accused his mother-in-law of the shooting, police said.

HEPBURN, BANKER, FATALLY INJURED

New York—A. Barton Hepburn, New York financier and chairman of the board of the Chase National bank, died Wednesday.

Hepburn's death followed injuries suffered when he hit by a passenger bus on Fifth avenue a few days ago.

Hepburn was 76. In addition to his connection with the Chase bank he was a director in Sears Roebuck, Studebaker corporation, Columbia Trust, New York Life insurance company and several other corporations.

INFLUENZA INCREASE SHOWN ALL OVER U. S.

Washington—A large increase in number of influenza cases in various parts of the United States was reported by the public health bureau here Wednesday.

The totals showed 882 cases this week compared with 368 last week.

Bootlegger Is Nabbed Despite Torn Warrant

By United Press Leased Wire
Minneapolis—A search warrant in pieces in just as good as a whole one, federal agents argued when they raided the home of Thomas Carroll, former city detective.

A woman in the home grabbed the search warrant when the officers presented it, tore it into bits, threw it in their faces and locked all the doors. Agents broke down the doors and arrested Carroll. They seized 150 gallons of alcohol and five cases of bonded liquor.

COX AGAIN WILL LEAD DEMOCRATS; IS AFTER LODGE

Speech at Jackson Day Banquet Tonight Will End Silence Since Defeat

Dayton, Ohio—James M. Cox, defeated Democratic candidate for president, indicated clearly Wednesday he will assume active leadership of the party after breaking his long silence at a Jackson day banquet here Wednesday night.

Cox also intimated that he might be a candidate for the presidential nomination in 1924.

J. P. Tumulty, Senator Pomerene, Senator Pat Harrison, Ed Moore, Cox's pre-convention manager and other party leaders arrived Wednesday from Washington to attend the banquet. Pomerene will discuss the Newberry case and other speakers will consider political developments.

Cox announced he would take "very great interest in public affairs from now on" and would make speeches throughout the east during the coming campaign.

Cox's speech Wednesday night will deal with national and international issues, marking his first public appearance in affairs since his defeat a year ago. The speech is expected to sound the keynote of the party for the coming congressional campaign and for the presidential election.

"I probably have established a record for silence on public questions," Cox declared Wednesday, "but I assure you I shall not remain silent from now on. I intend to make many speeches throughout the country during the coming campaign, especially in Massachusetts where one Henry Cabot Lodge is up for election."

START NEW FIGHT TO ALTER RAIL PAY

Shop Crafts Want to Overthrow Rail Board Decision on Overtime Wages

By United Press Leased Wire
Chicago—Shop craft employees of the railroads Wednesday started direct negotiations with their employers in an effort to overthrow the decision by the United States railroad labor board eliminating time and one half pay for overtime.

Following a meeting extending over a period of several days, heads of the shop crafts unions instructed their locals to start new disputes with the railroad managements and attempt to obtain concessions greater than allowed by the board.

In case no agreement is reached, the union will again bring the matter before the railroad labor board for readjustment.

AUTO BOOTLEGGERS GET STIFF FINES IN COURT

By United Press Leased Wire
Milwaukee—Pleading guilty to charges of transporting liquor to Milwaukee from Peoria, Ill., and selling it to local men for parties at a Milwaukee club, three men were handed stiff fines in federal district court here Tuesday.

Adolph Kern, garage owner, who pleaded guilty to the actual selling, was fined $900. Frank Friberg and Adolph Puetzer, Jr., who admitted bringing the liquor to Milwaukee from Peoria in one of Kern's cars, paid fines of $250 and $100 respectively.

HUGE STILL SEIZED IN HOUSE RAID AT ST. PAUL

St. Paul—A composite still with 135 gallons capacity and 200 gallons of moonshine mash was seized by federal agents late Tuesday in a house at 202 University-ave.

Charles Rothstein and Sam Paster, were arrested and charged with illicit manufacture and possession of liquor. Twenty-three gallons of moonshine ready for delivery were found in the place. Agents said it was the largest moonshine project they have found.

Big Interests Oppose Waterway Project and Acceptance of Ford Shoals Offer

FARM BUREAU LEADS FIGHT

U. S. Agricultural Conference is Threshing Out Big Issues in Committees

By James T. Kolbert
Washington—Powerful forces were at work Wednesday to prevent the agricultural conference from going on record in favor of Henry Ford's canalization project and the farm bloc.

Fertilizer and other big interests are opposing Ford; New York, New England and other Atlantic coast states are fighting the St. Lawrence project, and administration forces are laboring against the farm bloc.

Leaders in the conference are confident of incorporating endorsement of these three issues in the program for agricultural relief.

The American Farm Bureau federation is leading the fight in favor of the Muscle Shoals and St. Lawrence projects, and in this it has the support of a majority of the farmer interests at the conference. The farmer representatives stand as a unit in favor of the farm bloc.

Of the three issues, the bitterest battle is on the canalization project. This is being fought out in the water transportation committee, of which J. R. Howard, president of the American Farm Bureau federation, is chairman. Congressman Peter G. Tenney is a member. Tenney is leading the eastern opposition to the St. Lawrence project. It is understood that some of the eastern branches of the farm bureau are supporting Tenney and threaten to break away if the committee endorses the project.

Howard has announced himself wholeheartedly in favor of the canalization project for the same reason that he supports the Muscle Shoals deal—the benefits in store for a vast number of farmers. Resistance to the canal project is to the fear that a huge slice of the clean-grip business will be lost to the interior.

FARMERS' UNION PROJECT

Howard's organization, the National Farmers' union and other powerful farm organizations, favor Ford's Muscle Shoals offer because they believe he is the only one who thus far has shown a sincere desire and the capacity to open up the power possibilities of the Tennessee river and the vast wealth locked up in the Tennessee mountains.

"Operation of the nitrate plants, providing cheap fertilizer, would merely be the first step in the regeneration of the south," Howard said.

Wednesday's session included addresses by Gov. John M. Parker, Louisiana; G. Harold Powell, Los Angeles; William M. Wagner, Chicago; Carl Williams, Oklahoma City; Robert McDougal, Chicago and J. M. Anderson, St. Paul.

REGULATE ELEVATORS

Anderson, president of the Equity Cooperative exchange, St. Paul, praised cooperative terminals for storing grain but urged government and state supervision. He said "short selling" should be stopped insofar as it is legally possible. Pending readjustment in this country, Anderson said the government should extend such credits to Europe as would operate to take up surplus stocks in the United States.

The United States was urged to participate in the Genoa economic conference as a means of restoring American prosperity by Anderson.

MATINEE SINGERS WILL OFFER FINE CONCERT THURSDAY

Gilbert Wilson, Noted Soloist, to be Featured at Musical Program

Gilbert Wilson, baritone soloist to appear with the Matinee Musicians in concert at Memorial chapel Thursday evening, endeavored himself to many service men while he was directing community singing at navy and marine training stations. Mr. Wilson was one of the first prominent musicians to take up community song work in the service.

He was first stationed at Hampton Roads and later with the marines at Quantico, Va. He made the trip to Washington every Sunday to conduct a "community sing" where large audiences greeted him week after week.

Mr. Wilson is not a stranger to many Appleton people who met him when he conducted the community singing at a Kimberly-Clark safety first program in Lawrence Memorial chapel. Those who heard his solos and enjoyed the community singing are anxious to hear him again.

The soloist at the concert is only one of the features which promise to make it one of the most popular of music events since the club itself has established a reputation for giving enjoyable programs. The cantata, "The Land of the Heart's Desire," which the women will present has a great deal of musical value. The chorus is made up of well blended and well trained voices. The women will also sing several part songs besides the cantata.

The program follows:
Cantata—The Land of the Heart's Desire Novin
Part I—The Lady of Saville.
Part II—The Desert Wraith.

FOUR DELEGATES AT DIOCESAN MEET

Few Changes are Made in Officers and Committees of Fond du Lac Diocese

Four representatives of All Saints church attended the annual diocesan conference of the Episcopal church in Fond du Lac Tuesday. They were the Rev. Paul Keicher, A. F. Henry, Lester Buchman, and Seymour Gmeiner. More than 35 clergy and 35 laymen were present at the conference which was given over largely to the transaction of diocesan business. Officers and standing committees remain the same and there were no important changes in canons and constitution.

Delegates were elected to the national conference at Portland, Ore., and to the provincial synod at Chicago. A report was made on the St. Francis clubhouse at Madison which was donated by A. Rhodius of Fond du Lac but which is located in the Milwaukee diocese. The clubhouse is used by Episcopal students at the University of Wisconsin and contains the student chapel. The Rev. Stanley M. Cleveland, student pastor spoke at the banquet in the evening. A church probably will be erected for the students in the near future.

Covers were laid for more than 110 at the banquet at Hotel Palmer in the evening. Rt. Rev. R. H. Weller, bishop of the Fond du Lac diocese gave a talk on the growth of the diocese in the last 41 years.

Tenth Annual Chicken Show Officially Opens in Armory G on Thursday

Eight-hundred entries have been made thus far for the tenth annual poultry show which officially opens Thursday morning in Armory G under auspices of the Fox River Valley Poultry and Pet Stock association. Cooper as a poultry judge, 1,000 birds have been erected with 500 more coops held in reserve for last minute entries. The local show is attracting state wide attention as Appleton has the reputation of putting on the largest displays of any poultry association in the state.

Local chicken fanciers have the reputation of winning the lion's share of ribbons at other shows with their entries. One man from Waupaca has entered 28 Rose Comb Rhode Island Reds with the sole desire of beating George Loos, local fancier, who has defeated his entries in every show for several years.

More than $1,000 in cash prizes will be awarded to winners.

George Wells, Oshkosh, famed for his ability as a poultry judge, has been secured to judge the show. Judging will be started Thursday and will continue until Sunday evening.

FINISH MOVING INTO NEW FURNITURE STORE

The Brettschneider Furniture Co. finished moving into its new store building Tuesday afternoon, but it will be several days before it will get settled. In addition to its present stock it will receive several carloads of new goods within the next few days which were purchased at the annual furniture show last week. The quarters in the Rossmess building just vacated were occupied continuously by the company for 24 years. The first floor of the new store will be devoted to parlor sets and novelties; the balcony to dining room sets and bedroom sets; the second floor to bedroom, dining room and kitchen sets; third floor to rugs and drapery; and fourth floor to caskets.

Grosbeaks Here

A flock of grosbeaks attracted a great deal of attention at the lower end of College-ave Wednesday. The sturdy little visitors made their appearance at an early hour and spent the entire day among the hedges and bushes, where they found an abundance of food.

AGREE ON METHOD OF MAKING AWARDS

Another Prize of $10 is Offered in Music Memory Contest Now On

The system by which each selection in the music memory contest will be graded has been worked out by the committee. Each selection will be given ten points if it is entirely correct, counting four points for the correct composition, four points for the composer, one point for nationality and one point for approximate date. The week of March 20 has been set aside for review for the contest and the preliminary in which each contestant has been given for the contest. Hours for individual contestants are being arranged for Saturday and will probably be from 10 to 11 o'clock. It was believed impractical to offer a prize for the scrap books which the children are using because many of them are uniform and are already showing signs of wear from the thumbings which the children have been giving them.

SAYS RISK RATES MUST BE KEPT UP

Addressing Appleton court of the Catholic Order of Foresters in St. Joseph hall Tuesday evening, Thomas H. Cannon, high chief ranger of the Catholic Order of Foresters, showed how necessary it is to keep any organization in financial insurance in complete solvency.

Mr. Cannon gave a history of the origin of insurance societies and the evolution of insurance ratings. He told how readjustment of rates is necessary because of legal requirements in the United States and Canada. After his talk the meeting was thrown open to discussion.

Speaks in Madison

As high treasurer of the Catholic Order of Foresters, Gustave Keller spoke on the order's proposed readjustment of insurance rates at the Holy Redeemer school in Madison Sunday evening.

HORTONIA FAMILY DRIVEN INTO COLD BY FIRE IN HOME

Farmhouse Owned by Walter Hanson is Totally Ruined—Furniture is Saved

Walter Hanson and family, town of Horton, were made homeless on one of the coldest days of the year Wednesday morning when their farm home about two and a half miles west of Hortonville was ruined totally by fire. Most of the household goods were saved and the loss to the building is covered partially by insurance. Mr. Hanson arose about 6 o'clock in the morning and found the house filled with smoke. An overheated chimney had caused a fire to start between the walls and it had gained too much headway to permit Mr. Hanson to extinguish it. Neighbors were

HARRY HOUDINI GUEST OF PRESIDENT HARDING

Harry Houdini, formerly an Appleton boy, and now magician and photoplay producer, accompanied by his wife recently visited President Harding while he was appearing in a theater at Washington, D. C.

President Harding complimented Mr. Houdini in his acts of magic and said he had often seen his performance. Houdini is now preparing release of the first feature photoplay produced by his concern. It is entitled, "The Man from Beyond."

DOUBLE HOLIDAYS SCARCE IN 1922

Only Three Connect With Sunday in the Year Now Getting Underway

During the last two years, Father Time has been generous with his holidays. Last year and year before last there were five double holidays because New Year's day, Memorial Day, Fourth of July, Labor Day, and Christmas all fell on either Sunday or Monday, and both days were celebrated.

This year there will be only three double holidays, New Year's, Labor Day and Christmas, and next year we must go back to observing only one day for each of these holidays. Memorial Day will come on Tuesday, as will also the Fourth of July, and Washington's birthday will be celebrated on Wednesday.

However, there are hopes of one more double holiday in 1922, as Armistice Day falls on Saturday. There has been much discussion regarding the national observance of this day, and the suggestion has been made that the date of Thanksgiving be changed to coincide with Armistice Day, so that both occasions can be observed at the same time.

Easter will come the third week in April when the first signs of spring will be appearing. Unless an untoward blizzard comes, as it some times does, Easter hats and suits will be very much in evidence on that day. Ash Wednesday comes on March 1. Good Friday on April 14, and Easter Sunday on April 16.

Two eclipses of the sun are scheduled to appear in 1922, one on March 23, which will be invisible in the United States except in Florida and one on September 21, entirely invisible in this country.

MUST PUT BRAND ON T. B. CATTLE

Farmers are Warned by State Agriculture Department to be on Their Guard

The branding of all cattle in Wisconsin that react to tuberculosis tests is called for by the state department of agriculture today, following adoption of two resolutions of the live stock sanitary board. Great importance is attached to the new requirements by the department, which is attempting to eradicate the disease from cattle of the state.

The first of the resolutions requires that the cattle reacting to the test shall be branded with the letter "T" on the left jaw and ear-tagged with the "regulation react-tag" upon completion of the test.

The second resolution requires that X cattle shipped into the state as feeders must be branded with the letter "T" on the right jaw for identification, since it has been found that a number of these animals are diverted for dairy and other purposes without being properly tuberculin tested.

Instructions were given to the state veterinarian to hold hearings with regard to the possibility of control of commercial stockyards in Wisconsin, and to devise means for testing cattle which are sent back to farms from the stockyards.

Farmers are warned by the department not to buy cattle that are branded as reactors. Such animals, the department says, are bound to spread tuberculosis.

YEOMEN PLANNING HOME FOR ORPHANS

Large Tract of Land Near Eau Claire is Considered as a Site

City authorities and civic organizations of Eau Claire are combining their efforts to induce the Brotherhood of American Yeomen to build its proposed orphan's home near their city.

A. N. Farmer of Grand Rapids, Mich., who is to be the superintendent of the new institution visited Eau Claire recently during a tour in which he is inspecting various sites throughout the country before a building location is selected. The orphan's home requires a site of 1,600 acres. It is to be modeled after the home maintained at Mooseheart, Ill., by the Loyal Order of Moose.

Mr. Farmer told the Eau Claire men it is planned to build a large number of small homes rather than one or two buildings of the institutional, dormitory type because it was felt the children's surroundings should be made as homelike as possible. A matron will be placed in charge of each house which will be occupied by 12 children. Education will be individual as far as possible and prepare the children for life. Under present plans it will cost from $350,000 to $500,000 annually to maintain the home.

Need More Salad Recipes To Keep Pace With Pies

Where are all the salad ideas for the contest? The food which is famed as a woman's dish has brought forth the least recipes of any of the cooking contest weeks up to this time. Every woman who has talked about the recipes has said: "I can hardly wait until you get to the salads because one never has too many ideas for salads."

It was that way too with the contest editor, but women have taken it for granted that everyone else would send in her favorites and so not so many recipes have been coming in. With more than 150 cakes and 176 pie fillings to say nothing of the numberless ways of making the pastry, it is too bad that Salad week is less successful.

There is still a chance for your favorites to win the prize if you will mail them right away and thus do your part to spread salad ideas. Remember that this week is different from the others in that the contest editor is offering a prize for the best dressing as well as for the best salad idea. Write each one on a separate slip of paper and sign your name and address.

Beginning at noon on Thursday, the contest editor will receive recipes for salad dressings. Here are more cokes! As soon as they all are printed, the pies will be published.

CUT PRICES TO MEET RATES OF COMPETITOR

By a recent decision of the state railroad commission the Minneapolis, St. Paul and Sault Ste. Marie railway company and the Green Bay and Western lines will be placed on an equal competitive basis in freight transportation in this section with the Chicago and Northwestern railroad.

The railroad commission's order permits these two companies to reduce their rates on certain classes of freight. The Chicago, Milwaukee and St. Paul lines are also affected by this order. Under the order the Soo Line may transport coal from Green Bay to Neshan, Menasha, Appleton, Oshkosh, State Hospital, or to Van Dyne over the Green Bay and Western, at the following rates: soft coal, $1.35; hard coal, $1.49 and coke, $1.62.

Change now from spotty hot air heat to ARCOLA'S hot water warmth

RIGHT NOW, in the middle of winter, is the economical time to make the change. Your Heating Expert has much more time now than he will have later on.

And you need not hesitate because the days are cold. Your furnace or stoves can remain until ARCOLA is installed and at work.

The three cold months are coming

The months when chilly bed-rooms mean discomfort for adults and the danger of coughs and colds for the children. What a satisfaction to have an American Radiator in every room, sending out its healthful hot-water warmth.

What a delight in the morning to come down to a dining-room comfortably warm. What a comfort to have all the hot water you want for washing and bathing.

All these comforts come with ARCOLA, and the installation can be made in a very few days. Telephone your Heating Expert (he may be classified as "Plumber" or "Steam-fitter"); ask him for an estimate.

Do it now — today — and enjoy ARCOLA'S friendly warmth through the three cold months that are still to come.

ARCOLA'S initial cost is surprisingly low and the cost comes back to you. Thousands of ARCOLA owners testify that ARCOLA pays for itself in the fuel it saves.

NO TAXES ON THIRTY BILLIONS OF BONDS

A class of tax-dodging by governmental permission is the tax-exempt security. Dr. Edwin R. Seligman, professor of political economy in Columbia university, told the house ways and means committee the other day that there are $20,000,000,000 of federal and $10,000,000,000 of state bonds outstanding which are wholly or partially exempt from taxation. On the federal securities, he said, the government loses $300,000,000 of taxes a year.

Besides being unrepentant and unfair by excusing persons of wealth from paying taxes, the tax-exemption feature has the effect of attracting money to these favored securities and directing it out of regular investment channels.

Capital that ordinarily would go into bonds and stocks to run factories and construct buildings, thereby providing work for the unemployed and stimulating commercial activity, is deflected into mere investment. Tax-exempt securities favor the leisure class that exists by drawing interest on its capital.

Exemption of bonds from taxation should be prohibited. It is a class measure. All securities should be taxable. The government should recall the tax-exempt bonds and issue new ones instead. The states, where it is possible, should do the same. No further issues of tax-exempt securities should be issued by state or nation.

DEAN COOLEY FOR MORE THOROUGH TRAINING

Dr. Mortimer E. Cooley, dean of the university of Michigan, says the engineering course in American universities is too technical and restricted. It should be lengthened in his opinion from four to six years, and should include groundwork in geology, biology and astronomy, besides one modern language additional to English.

While there is possibility that university courses in all departments may be made so long as to practically debar many young persons without ample means from taking them, Dean Cooley's observations about technical over-training will be accepted with general approval. As he says, broader knowledge is among our principal educational requisites.

Dean Cooley, it should be noted, emphasizes groundwork as the essential of more thorough education. Insisting on thoroughness in each specialty, he urges familiarity with the foundations of general knowledge. The suggestion is practical. Students who master fundamentals find it easy after graduation to pursue their work and investigations with understanding.

RAILROADS WISH TO KEEP RATES HIGH

There is a little comfort in the statement made by President Daniel Willard of the Baltimore & Ohio railroad to the Interstate Commerce commission that the carriers expect extremely high freight rates to be forced down by economic laws. Nevertheless, it is hoped that the effective operation of these laws will not be long deferred.

Excessive freight charges tend not only to affect wholesale and retail prices, but to restrict business activity, and to narrow trade territory. Liquidation of the construction industry and railroad costs are awaited anxiously by business men, who much prefer rate reductions to promise.

SPOKANE TAKES ITSELF SERIOUSLY

Having only 867 illiterates, according to a census bureau report, Spokane has begun to allude to itself as "the most intelligent city in the nation." It has started a movement, besides, to educate the deficient 867 and become 100 per cent learned.

It is impossible to find a standard of literacy, or illiteracy, and almost equally impossible to compare communities as to intelligence. Communities of mixed population may be classed as illiterate, yet have the most progressive public spirit and civic pride. Comparisons of intelligence simply prove that communities are different. Spokane takes herself too seriously, just as Boston used to.

DARWINIAN SCIENCE REMAINS IN DARKNESS

Discussion of the Darwinian hypothesis of natural selection at the annual convention of the American Society for Advancement of Science in Toronto deepened the clouds which have been hanging over it ever since it was propounded. It is not only just as speculative as ever, but is tending, under progressive scientific discovery, to become a mere film. Discussion showed that even its believers take it only on partial faith and with the preponderance of proof against it.

Darwin's hypothesis that new species are developed by gradual variations in natural production—never had any fact whatever as its basis. It was simply a form of theorizing, and for the very reason that it was a speculative idea it aroused widespread interest.

Prof. William Bateson of England, a biologist and authority on heredity, could say nothing stronger in support of the evolutionary hypothesis than that "the variations we see do not look as though they were leading to species, nor can we call an unlimited lapse of time to develop minor variations into distinct species." And then, "The idea that species are summations of varieties ignores the chief attribute of species, that crossing different species produces sterile hybrid."

In the plainest terms the English evolutionist thus denied the Darwinian hypothesis. Dr. Bateson is director of the John Innes Horticultural institute, at Surrey, and he ranks high among British scientific investigators. It would seem that such an earnest investigator would follow his reasoning to the logical conclusion, and admit that all recorded facts are contrary in every respect to the theory of evolution. However, like other prominent speculative scientists, he prefers to remain undecided. Darwin himself said, toward the end of his life: "If we consider the whole universe, the mind refuses to look at it as the origin of chance. The whole question seems to me to be insoluble."

This is the conclusion to which all investigation goes, yet scientists resist giving up their speculation. Inquiry into the hypothesis of evolution invariably reaches the conclusion that it leads nowhere, or disproves itself. Natural facts are opposed to the theory, and facts are supposed to be the substantial base of scientific truth.

The Darwinian theory is in the same category with metaphysics, and therefore hopeless. All attempts to explain the origin of the world and the origin of human life, in a scientific sense, have failed utterly. The origin of both as explained by the bible, not literally of course, but as the conception and product of a supreme being and divine will still stands as the only satisfactory one and never has been, and never will be disproven, by science, metaphysics or philosophy.

On the contrary, the utter futility of all such investigations goes to confirm in every essential respect the hypothesis on which the bible and the teachings of Christ rest. In the realm of metaphysics man has made no progress. The speculations of thousands of years ago are as valid as speculations of today. The same thing is true concerning man himself. Attempts to reduce him to scientific analysis have failed. All of the theories advanced during the centuries of recorded history touching life and the universe have lead nowhere, except back to the starting place fixed by the scriptures.

Health Talks

BY WILLIAM BRADY, M. D.

Noted Physician and Author.
Dr. Brady will answer all signed letters pertaining to health. Writers' names are never printed. Only inquiries of general interest are answered in this column, but all letters will be answered by mail if written in ink and a stamped, self-addressed envelope is enclosed. Requests for diagnosis or treatment of individual case cannot be considered. Address Dr. William Brady, in care of this paper.

SWEETS FOR TOTS

Dr. John L. Morse of Boston; formerly professor of Pediatrics in Harvard medical school, pans sugar and sweets for the little tots. Once more this well known specialist places candy and ice cream and cake and cookies beyond the pale or outside of the pantry so far as the wee ones are concerned.

"Take a child that eats lots of candy," a newspaper quotes Dr. Morse. "He will never have good teeth again. Also a child that takes quantities of sweets will suffer from dyspepsia for a life time and will likely be a confirmed dyspeptic when arriving at adult age."

For instance, as Dr. Morse doesn't add, take a parcel of little pickaninies toward the end of the sugar cane season. Poorly nourished? Poor teeth? Dyspepsia? Finest teeth in the world. Nobody knows they've got a digestion.

Let me tabulate the counts the Boston doctor makes in his indictment:

1. Sugar is not a necessary component of a child's dietary but the carbohydrates are. The carbohydrates (starches and sugars) are converted into sugar in the process of digestion. The starches can take the place of sugar in the dietary.
2. Sugar and sweets distract appetite from more essential foods.
3. Causes decay of the teeth.
4. Impairs digestion.

These strictures apply to the feeding of such forbidden things as candy, cookies, cake, ice cream, sherberts, sugar on cereals, sugar on bread and butter or in fact sugar in or on anything a child under six years of age may eat.

Kiddies, this is a hard life and I'm afraid Dr. Morse is nearer the truth than I like to admit. I have tabulated his premises or surmises. Now here are some of his conclusions:

Many children, tease for things they should not have, because they have been badly brought up, poorly trained, by parents or other guardians who have ignored good medical counsel and good sense by allowing the young child to have tastes of this and that because others at the table were eating the forbidden thing or gratuitously suggested just a bite wouldn't hurt any child.

Sugar and sweets destroy the child's natural appetite for a reasonable amount of bread and butter—give the child a finical taste, and to please.

Children tend to bolt sugar, candy and sweets, whereas if they are not allowed such things they can be taught to remain long enough at table to properly chew their food. (Twenty minutes is the minimum—no child should be permitted to leave the table without that time.)

Notwithstanding Dr. Morse's views I should give my children a reasonable amount of bread and butter on the bread and butter from the age of 2½ years, a heaping teaspoonful of sugar on their breakfast cereal if, a cookie or some cake or other sweetened tid bit as dessert after dinner, and some pure old fashioned stick candy or homemade candy as an after dinner (not a between meals) reward for good behavior every week, at least.

The greater part of the nutritive value of a child's natural food is milk—milk sugar, less sweet, possibly more quickly digestible than cane sugar. The greater part of a child's proper beverage, cow's milk, is milk sugar.

QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS

Fat and Health

I am a young girl of 16 years and I would like to know if it is really necessary for one to be fat in order to enjoy good health. If so please tell me how to gain weight. I am 54 inches tall and weigh only 101 pounds, but I have never felt better in my life, but father insists I am too frail to attend dances with my older brothers and sisters. (H. A.)

Answer—Fathers are queer animals, but curiously enough they are often right in their notions of what's healthful for little girls. It is necessary for a girl to be fairly fat in order to enjoy health. What you will have gained about fifteen pounds you'll realize that. Don't quarrel with father, but send me another little billet doux, this time inclosing an S. A. E., and I'll mail you one of the most engrossing monographs you ever read on How to Accumulate Fat, Health and Good Looks.

An Unjust Suspicion

Please inform me what causes white spots to appear under the nails of a man or a woman. I noticed such spots in the nails of a young lady who applied here for a position, and as I have always understood that such spots were caused by loose living, I rejected the application, as I have a number of young men in the office. (W. L. K.)

Answer—That was a regrettable error on your part, for such spots have no significance aside from the fact that they form in or under the nails from slight injuries, as in manicuring.

Heredity

A girl, has a deformity of the foot which was present at birth, but contains this affliction would not reappear in any children which may be born to her. B contends it will. (M. A. G.)

Answer—A defect present at birth may be transmitted to children, but a deformity occurring as a result of disease or injury in the early life of an individual is not likely to be inherited by children.

Resume of American and Foreign Newspaper Opinion

The Newberry Verdict

The resolution which secured to Truman H. Newberry his seat in the United States Senate "reads like a verdict of 'not guilty, but don't do it again,'" the SYRACUSE HERALD (Ind.) remarks. But to the SIOUX CITY TRIBUNE (Ind.) it is much more serious than that in effect an "admission from the Senate that the seat was bought and paid for." The ALBUQUERQUE (N. Mex.) JOURNAL (Ind. Rep.) paraphrases it another way: "Seats in the United States Senate ought not to be put for sale, the highest bidder or bought out right, but in the event that a member of the Republican party did buy such a seat, he should be allowed to retain the property."

The fight over seating Newberry "was a moral issue," says the SOUTH BEND TRIBUNE (Ind. Rep.), but after a significant dash it adds—"until the vote was cast, when the battle revealed the contest for what it was—a partisan battle." The BALTIMORE AMERICAN (Rep.) regrets that the question involved "could not be settled by the governing body regardless of party lines," for then "the voters would feel more confident of the justice of the verdict arrived at." But the NEW HAVEN REGISTER (Ind.) declares, "not necessarily because they believed his election to have been improperly obtained, but because he is a Republican," and the Republicans, the AMERICAN (Ind.) concedes, "stood firm for the party's sake."

But while the Democratic press is solid in its condemnation of the whole proceeding, Republican papers are far from united behind the majority vote which seated the Michigan Senator. Much of the bitterest denunciation of what the NEW YORK GLOBE (Ind. Rep.) calls the "glaring example of hypocrisy" which the SPOKANE REPUBLICAN (Ind.) says "condemned an offense while welcoming the offender," comes from Republican journals. Moreover, a large part of the defense is predicated on "the unusual circumstances attending the Michigan contest," to quote the ALBUQUERQUE (N. Mex.) JOURNAL (Ind. Rep.), in which Newberry (Ind. Rep.) notes, had also "the benefit of much greater strength than could be used for him." Strong emphasis is also given, however, to the fact that "in all the denunciations and factious campaign against Newberry," the NEW YORK JOURNAL (Ind.) JOURNAL (Rep.) has it, "no real and conclusive evidences of the corruption of the electorate were established."

In fact "it was a case on which men might differ without impugning their honesty," the BUFFALO EX-POSER (Ind. Rep.) believes, even though it agrees with the BALTIMORE NEWS (Ind.) that "any Senator who sincerely believed him entitled to his seat required more moral courage to vote accordingly than, for his opponents to drift with the tide."

The Democratic viewpoint is found in such expressions as that of the SPRINGFIELD NEWS which decides that "gold after all, seems to be ruling power." For the FLORIDA METROPOLIS (Jacksonville) announces, "United States Senatorships are now for sale," and partisanship has declared Newberry entitled to a seat which the WORCESTER POST says is "padded with dollar bills." But after the ROCHESTER WORLD NEWS thinks nothing else could have been expected in the circumstances, because "Mr. Newberry was not simply one Republican Senator from Michigan. He was the whole Republican majority at a highly important moment in Republican history," and to repudiate him would be to repudiate everything done by that minority, the NEW YORK JOURNAL (Rep.) asserts, that "control of the Senate during the Sixty-sixth Congress was grounded in corruption." The BOSTON HERALD (Ind. Rep.) admits the Republicans themselves to confess a flaw in their title to power "the last Congress would have been elected historically," and they could not afford "to invalidate the organization by which they have been doing business," but "if we are to have any confidence in our institutions we must have it in the type of men who rallied to Newberry's defense."

But granting that Newberry's retention validates "the acts performed by the Senate with the help of his vote," the WORCESTER TELEGRAM (Rep.) feels that "the parliamentary aspect of the dispute is of lesser point." And though the NEW YORK EVENING WORLD (Dem.) declares that "political history will never record a more pitiful piece of pettifoggery than the Willis amendment," the NEW YORK JOURNAL (Rep.) explains the "disgraceful" and "advertiser" (Rep.) holds both declarations of the Senate resolution "right," for "no attempt was made to prove that the money was used for corrupt purposes," and therefore Newberry was honestly elected, but at the same time "more money was employed than should have been," and he was frankly admitted by the defendant himself, but "he asserted upon his solemn oath that he was not aware of, nor a party to, the expenditures made in his behalf," and the WASHINGTON POST (Ind.) is sure that if the literal truth of that statement had not been accepted by his colleagues, "the result would have been different." But the BUTTE POST (Rep.) regards that plea as "miserably weak, at best," it is "the universal alibi of aristocrat crooks caught with the goods," the OREGON JOURNAL (Portland, Ind.) observes, and the LEXINGTON LEADER (Rep.) insists that "the moral responsibility for that score." It was his business to know what was going on, and the NEW BEDFORD (Mass.) STAND-ARD (Rep.) suggests that "the impression will not down that he was uninformed not through accident, but by choice."

The ALBUQUERQUE JOURNAL, the OMAHA NEWS (Ind.), and the LINCOLN STATE JOURNAL (Ind. Rep.) join the OHIO STATE JOURNAL (Rep.) in paying "all honor to the little handful of Republican Senators who had the courage to put principle above partisanship," for "they served their party better than the others."

While the DETROIT JOURNAL (Ind. Rep.) sees "belated justice" to Senator Newberry in the Senate verdict, the BAY CITY TIMES TRIBUNE (Ind.) sees "another stain on the political history of the nation," for "the majority of Michigan papers with the ANN ARBOR TIMES NEWS (Ind.) and the MUSKOGON CHRONICLE (Ind.) hope that "the warning may have the desired effect in Michigan, after all," by ending what the GRAND RAPIDS HERALD (Rep.) calls "the cash register politics."

The Conference And The League
Paris.—The theory that the Washington conference makes useless and sounds the death-knell of the League of Nations is scouted by a writer in L'ERE NOUVELLE who makes some interesting comparisons.

"What effect will the Washington Conference have on the fate and the development of the League of Nations he asks, and continues:

"Many American publishers declare that the conference marks the triumph of republican, over the democratic ideas, and the celebrated writer Wells, whose imagination sometimes oversteps the boundaries of time prophecies the approaching death of the Geneva organization and invites people to scrap the League, in other words, to treat the pact of April, 28, 1919, as a scrap of paper."

This is no doubt going too fast. We will admit that the relative success of the Washington Conference has restored to the methods of partial agreements and alliances something of the credit which they had lost in the opinion of the public. Must we conclude from this that the positive work accomplished by the League of Nations in other respects deserves to be abandoned? Does Mr. Wells seriously propose to suspend the repatriation of war prisoners, to abandon the fight against typhoid, and against the white slave traffic, to abandon national minorities to their gloomy fate, to leave up the Eastern conventions with regard to transport, etc.? For to abandon the pact of 1919 would mean to give up all these benevolent activities so rich in promise. Is it really a return to political and economic anarchy that is desired? If so, it would be better to say so frankly.

"But," continues the writer, "it is impossible to go farther than this." To brave the Washington Conference is useful to the League of Nations in two ways, first by its insufficiency and then by its positive results.

"Let us begin with the later. The diplomatists of Washington have succeeded in limiting the armaments of the three greatest naval powers of the globe. We do not wish to lessen the importance of this agreement; on the contrary it is very considerable. "We will even grant that the first meetings of the League of Nations compared to the meetings at Washington made a very pitiful impression. But just for this reason it would be foolish to think that the relative success of Washington with regard to disarmament would relieve the League of a part of its work, for which in its present state it is by no means fit. The Washington Conference succeeded in bringing about the reduction of naval armaments because the three great powers interested took part in the debate. But it would be scarcely possible for a League of Nations to solve the problem of disarmament with Germany, Russia, Turkey and the United States not included.

"But at the same time the insufficiency of the Washington treaty with regard to the Pacific emphasizes the weaknesses of partial agreements. For at Washington none of the great problems of the Pacific were touched upon; the dangerous muddle of Chinese affairs was not taken into consideration and it provides for no positive collaboration between those interested of the problems which were too complex to be handled; and this fact only strengthens the position of the League of Nations.

"This result is so obvious," continues the writer, "that there is a masked feeling in United States in favor of rallying round the Geneva organization. The famous 'Association of Nations' that President Harding was going to oppose at the League is now being revived. But there are many signs which point to a new orientation of American opinion.

"It is of course too soon to predict that the Washington agreement is a prelude to the entry of the United States into the League of Nations, but it is worth a good deal to be able to say that the second will not be affected as many thought it would be, by the success of the American meetings. The League of Nations stands firmly enough not to mind the efforts which are being made in other places to ease her military burden and ensure the safety of nations. It may be left to time to bring them closer together. As Gilbert Murray said: 'Let us greet Washington with all allowing that Geneva should be weakened.'"

MATT SCHMIDT & SON
TWO FLOORS OF GOOD THINGS FOR MEN

Honey In The Bible

The custom of honey-eating, in some races, is best told in the words of A. Talowitz, of the "Jewish Daily Forward." In speaking of the large amounts of honey purchased by the Jews of the United States, he says: "Nothing can ever successfully take the place of honey. Only nature herself could produce a food that is at once so delicious, so pure, so nourishing, so healthful. Every housewife can make meals and luncheons more delightful by using honey in the preparation of foods, and by serving it on the table." Permit me to remind you that from time immemorial honey has been a household article among the Jews of the world. The Mosaic dietary law distinctly prescribes that on every Jewish holiday honey must be eaten. Jewish children eat it with bread and biscuits. In the pantry of every Jewish home will be found a jar of honey.

"Whenever and wherever guests assemble, a dish of honey is served. The Jews, that ancient people of the Bible, love honey as no other. The Talmud, that storehouse of Hebrew lore, requires every Jew to eat honey on the Sabbath. Not a Jew festival takes place without honey being partaken of. Not a Jewish home in the wide world where a jar of honey is not always to be found. That which coffee is to the Brazilian and tea to the Englishman, honey is to the Jew. It is the universal dish. It is the king of foods. It reigns supreme in every Jewish household."

The expression "sweet as honey" is first found in the Old Testament. In 10,000 synagogues, throughout the length and breadth of this land, thrice daily, the Jews offer up prayer for the restoration of Israel in the ancient Home—"the land of Flowing Milk and Honey."

A famous American writer has recently said: One cannot eat honey without stirring odors redolent of Genesis and Exodus. One cannot dip his fingers in a jar of honey and escape the sound of voices from Leviticus and Numbers. The Psalms and Proverbs and the Song of Songs are drenched with its sweetness. Honey is mentioned 54 times in the Bible.

Q. Is it true that in Mississippi a wife cannot sue for damages because the money would go to her husband?
E. D.

A. The National Woman's party, which is making surveys of state laws affecting women, says that under the common law this would have been true. Mississippi, however, enacted a statute giving a wife the right to control her own property. Under this law, a wife may sue for damages for alienation of her husband's affections. In a suit for damages for physical injury the wife would receive the other's award for personal injuries—her suffering—while the husband would collect the amount allowed for loss of her services.

Q. Which of South American countries contains the most people from the United States?
A. Argentina has more representative of the United States than any other South American country. In that country there are about 3,000 people who hail from the United States.

Q. Can moths destroy a hive of bees?
A. The Bureau of Entomology says that moths do not destroy strong, healthy colonies in good hives. If moths have entered, the beekeeper should study his colonies to see what other troubles have weakened them. Queenlessness, lack of stores or some such trouble, would bring about a condition favorable to the entrance of the pests.

Q. What is the rhyme royal? I. C. A. Seven line stanzas have been given this name, because King James I of Scotland used them in writing a sentimental poem.

Q. How much money is spent for foreign missions by Protestant churches?
A. The best estimate obtainable places the amount spent by Protestant churches for foreign missions in 1920 at $100,000,000.

Q. What is the function of the ash constituents of food?
A. Their function is to build the bone, teeth, muscles, nerves and tissue; to enter into the composition of the living cell in every part of the body and to regulate body processes.

Q. Which has charge of fishing rights in a river, the state or Federal Government?
A. The federal government controls the navigation of rivers, but the states are in charge of fishing and hunting rights.

Q. What does "Ontario" mean?
A. Ontario is an Indian word meaning either "beautiful lake" or "beautiful prospect of rocks, hills and water."

Q. How long was Willie Hoppe, the champion billiard player?
A. Willie Hoppe won the world's billiard championship at Paris, January 15, 1906, and held it until 1921.

Clubs and Parties

Glee Club Leader
Mrs. E. E. Dunn has appointed director of Appleton Womans club glee club and will conduct a meeting at 8:15 Tuesday evening at the club room. The glee club plans to put on an opera in the spring and will begin work upon it at once.

Clubs and classes including those in gymnasium, folk and aesthetic dancing, volleyball and basketball will begin again next week with the opening of the new semester. A new class for recreation leaders has been established for Monday night. Work with younger girls is being hindered constantly by the inability to procure trained leaders. This course is planned to give girls who are interested in recreational work an opportunity to train themselves for the work.

Prepare for Party
In most unexpected places during the past two weeks, you may have heard girls practicing waltzes for a costume party or singing popular songs. Perhaps you could not figure it out, but if you are a member of the Appleton Womans club recreation department or even a friend of the girls in that department, you knew that they were all getting ready for the big Roundup party at Appleton high school on Wednesday evening. The program begins at 8 o'clock and is to be followed by dancing in the gymnasium.

Character Dress Party
Miss Hilda Rohloff entertained ten girl friends at a character dress party Tuesday evening at her home, 1057 Superior-st. Prizes for best costumes were won by Miss Caroline Wilz and Miss Esther Lange. Games, dancing and stunts furnished entertainment. Among those present were Misses Elizabeth Kolth, Erma Timm, Misses Lange, Caroline Wilz, Dorothy Krause, Lucille Doerfler, E. Van Horn, Alma Rohloff, Elsie Elhke and Esther Retzlaff Ellington.

Program At Antigo
Mrs. Marguerite Arens, dramatic interpreter and instructor of expression and dramatic art at Lawrence college gave a program of readings in the Methodist church at Antigo last Sunday evening as one of a series of entertainments which are being held there this winter. Mrs. Arens read, "The Tyranny of Tears," an interlude from John Drinkwater's "Abraham Lincoln." She also read selections of new poetry and boyish accounts of episodes in home life.

Scottish Program
A program of Scottish songs and dances will be given at the second annual meeting of the Scottish folk in Appleton in Odd Fellow hall, Friday evening. Scots everywhere gather to celebrate the birthday anniversary of Robert Burns on Jan. 25. The local program had to be postponed until Friday evening. Before last year, Appleton people who wished to take part in Burns celebration went to Green Bay.

Surprised On Birthday
Mrs. Herman Strutz was pleasantly surprised by fifteen friends at her home, 853 Spring-st., on her birthday anniversary Tuesday afternoon. The afternoon was spent with games. Prizes at schafkopf were awarded to Mrs. Henry Strutz, Mrs. George Weiland, at rummy to Mrs. Arthur Cobs and Mrs. Bertha Guckenberg. Honors in a guessing contest went to Mrs. John Foster and Mrs. H. R. Sheldon.

Plan Masquerade Ball
At the dancing party given by homestead 6004 of the Brotherhood of American Yeomen Tuesday night, tentative plans were made for a masquerade ball to be given Friday evening, Feb. 10, in Eagles Hall. The committee of women in charge of the arrangements is said to be considering the offering of prizes for the best masqueraders.

35 Couples at Dance
More than 55 couples attended the dance given in Elk hall Tuesday night for 50 cents and their friends. The next dance in the series will take place on Wednesday, Feb. 8. The Valley Country Club orchestra of Neenah which furnished music on Tuesday evening has been procured for the next dance also.

Surprised By Friends
Friends of Mrs. Anton Choudoir surprised her at her home, 648 Story-st., Tuesday evening. There were more than 30 guests. Prizes at schafkopf were won by Mrs. Jerry Berro, Mrs. Louis Plette, Mrs. Fred DeWitt and Mrs. Anton Choudoir; at other games by Mrs. Louis Dedecker and Mrs. Joseph LeFond.

T. M. T. M. Club Program
The T. M. T. M. club will have its social program at Appleton Womans clubroom at 2:30 Thursday afternoon. The program of the party which is being designated as an "Animal party," is in charge of the Misses Edna Doebbler and Mabel Kirschen-lor.

Meet for Practice
Basketball and volleyball classes of Appleton Womans club will meet

Secret of a Good Disposition

A woman who carefully safeguards her health benefits her disposition. She will be happy and attractive to all. The world unfortunately is filled with sweet women who are unhappy because they are held back from usefulness by troubles so common among them. Fretfulness and nervousness rapidly destroy good dispositions. Sickly, all-worn-out women cannot make happy homes.

Lydia E. Pinkett's Vegetable Compound is a safeguard of women's health. This is clearly proven by the many letters we are continually publishing in this paper, from women who have been restored to health and happiness by its use after years of suffering. Why don't you try it?

BEING A GOOD COOK IS NOT ALL

The preparation of food requires knowledge and habits above and beyond being able to prepare food well.

It is essential that the housewife who buys food and attends to its preparation should have this knowledge.

The care of food after its purchase from a "cheaply" market is highly important. The experts of the Federal Government have this to say: "Care of food in the home is not only necessary to economical living, but it also is essential to the protection of life itself."

No Wonder Glass Makers Are Plugging So Hard To Keep This Country "Dry"

It's an ill wind that blows nobody good goes the old saying and so it is that the same blow which put the breweries out of commission sent the glass manufacturers sailing on their way to prosperity. How come? Why, it's all very simple, when you figure it out in the relation of wine glasses to home brew.

"Increase in the sale of wine glasses," said Arly Luckke at the Gloucestergate company when the reporter asked whether the sale had increased appreciably. "Why, we simply cannot keep them in stock. And at Christmas time, we had sold out long before the holiday. We try to carry them in stock but we cannot get them fast enough to meet the demand."

"A shipment of wine glasses which used to cover the demand for a year, now lasts only 30 days," said J. A. Limbeck, manager of the Kresge store. "The increase has been noticeable for 18 months or so. We have them at several prices and the most expensive one we carry has the best sale. Of course, the majority of people ask the clerks for medicine glasses. It is the two ounce size which is selling best now, and we have almost no sale for the former popular 10 ounce size."

ALL HAVE SAME STORY
Practically every store in Appleton which handles glasses has the same story to tell. In most cases, the demand far exceeds the supply and all

THEY ALL WANT TO GET INTO COOKING CLASS IN SCHOOL

Kaukauna Young Men Fear Their Extinction Unless They Learn to Cook

Kaukauna—What is the meaning of all this rush and flurry in the general direction of the main office? That was the question of those who entered the high school Tuesday morning. Members of the so called "sterner sex" were madly making for the office, their faces brilliantly lighted with the thought of coming adventure and new discoveries, until it was necessary for the principal to issue the riot call.

A reporter entered on the scene, and, being of inquiring turn of mind, dropped a question here and there as to the cause for this near mutiny on the part of Kaukauna's "cream of young men". From a chorus of muffled and hurried replies, one gathered meager information that a class in cooking for boys had just been added to the curriculum of the high school, and, as the class was limited to only 12 boys, it necessitated a grand rush, embodying all the principles of the theory of the "survival of the fittest."

Upon further questioning a few of the boys admitted that things are getting serious. With the women head over heels in politics and prohibition, neglecting their duties in the kitchen, it was time steps were taken to prevent total extinction of the noble male species, a result which is inevitable unless responsible men are initiated into the mysteries of the art of the manipulation of food and other sundry domestic drudgery which is the common lot of woman.

An interview with "the" principal, however, showed that matters are not as bad as one would be led to believe. A careful distinction is necessary in a selection of the class, since so many boys are eager to take cooking. Conflicts with other studies will dash the hopes of a number of aspirants. The head of the school looks forward to a peaceful and amicable arrangement of the new class.

Social Items

Kaukauna—Pupils of the seventh and eighth grades of Park school were entertained at a sleighride and party to the home of Barney Wipolt near Hollandtown Monday evening. Fourteen young people were included in the party. The Misses Norma Kromer and Anna Wolf were chaperons.

A dance will be given Friday evening in Eagle hall by the Kaukauna order of Eagles. Music will be furnished by the Electric City orchestra.

A regular meeting of the Whozit club was held Monday evening at the home of Miss Iva Guilfoyle, Wisconsin-ave. The evening was spent in sewing. Ten members attended. The next meeting will be at the home of Miss Florence Kuehler.

A meeting of the Elks will be held Thursday evening in Elk hall. Plans will be discussed for the annual Elk ball, Friday evening, Feb. 24.

KAUKAUNA PERSONALS

Mrs. Julius Goetzman was taken to St. Elizabeth hospital in Appleton Wednesday morning. She will submit to an operation on Saturday.

Herbert O. Haessly was a business visitor in Appleton Tuesday evening. Misses Ella Hentz Leone Schlude and Zella Peranteau attended a play in Appleton theatre Tuesday evening.

Carl Anderson visited in Appleton Tuesday.

Mrs. John Hitting returned Monday evening from a three weeks' visit with her daughter in Stanley.

The factory is a member of the Wisconsin Cheese Federation and a vote was taken resulting by a big majority in a decision to stay another year. The following were chosen as officers: President, Charles Grode; vice president, John Haen; secretary, John Wolf; treasurer, John Grafmeier; director, John Berghuis. The report up to Dec. 1, 1921 is: Total pounds of milk received, 2,335,555; cheese sold to Wisconsin Cheese Federation, 212,511 pounds; cheese

MUSICAL PROGRAM BY H. S. STUDENTS

Interest in Music Among Pupils Is Increasing Every Year

Kaukauna—Arrangements are well underway for a program to be given jointly by the high school glee clubs and the high school orchestra. The program will be given before the public in the auditorium Friday evening, Feb. 3.

The program will consist of vocal and instrumental selections and solos. Interest in music in the high school has been on the increase for the last few years. Four years ago it was almost impossible to find enough boys to form a glee club and this year it has been necessary to weed out candidates. The girls glee club also has had plenty of members.

The orchestra, perhaps, has not increased with the others. There are plenty of musicians in the school. It is said, but they cannot be induced to join the orchestra. A day will be observed as "orchestra day" at which time efforts will be made to round up every player of a musical instrument in the school. The event will be held soon after the joint program.

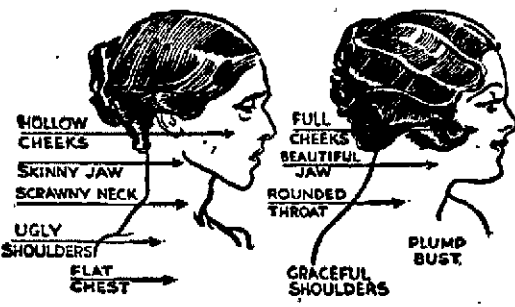

REBEKAHS WILL HOLD MEETING AT DEPERE

Kaukauna—The quarterly district meeting of the Rebekah lodge will be held Tuesday, Jan. 31 in DePere. Mrs. W. J. Paschen of this city, is district warden, and will attend the meeting. Ten or twelve members of the local order also will be present at the meeting.

New Yeast Vitamon Tablets Round Out Face and Figure

With Firm, Healthy Flesh, Increase Energy and Beautify the Complexion—Easy and Economical to Take—Results Quick

Thin or run-down folks who want to quickly get some good, firm, solid flesh on their bones, fill out the hollows and sunken cheeks with strong, healthy tissues, and build up increased energy and vitality should try taking a little Mastin's VITAMON with their meals. Mastin's VITAMON is a tiny tablet containing highly concentrated yeast-vitamines as well as the two other still more important vitamins (Fat Soluble A and Water Soluble C). It banishes pimples, boils and skin eruptions as if by magic, strengthens the nerves, builds up the body with firm flesh and tissue and often completely rejuvenates the whole system. Quick, gratifying results. No gas caused. If you are thin, pale, haggard, drawn looking or lack energy and endurance take Mastin's VITAMON—two tablets with every meal. Then weigh and measure yourself each week and continue taking Mastin's VITAMON regularly until you are satisfied with your gain in weight and energy. IMPORTANT! While the remarkable health-building value of Mastin's VITAMON has been clearly and positively demonstrated in cases of lack of energy, nervous troubles, anemia, indigestion, constipation, skin eruptions, poor complexion and a generally weakened physical and mental condition, it should not be used by anyone who OBJECTS to having their weight increased to normal. Do not accept imitations or substitutes. You can get Mastin's VITAMON tablets at all good druggists.

NOVEL IDEA PUT THREE YOUNG MEN ON EASY STREET

Inventors of Eskimo Pie Had Hard Row to Hoe But They Are Getting Along

There is an interesting triangle composing the Chicago concern which is behind the manufacture of Eskimo Pie, the new ice cream confection which has recently been introduced in Appleton and made by the Mory Ice Cream company.

First of the three meet Chris Nelson, 27, the inventor of Eskimo Pie, two months ago receiving $25 a week for racking balls in an Omaha hall and now holding bags while the money rolls in. Russell Stover, a friend of Nelson's is another partner and Fred Zilliox is the third. The company is known as the Russell Stover company. Zilliox was a tailor. He befriended Nelson when the latter was down and out. Now he is rewarded with a partnership in Nelson's prosperous concern.

Some years ago Nelson was engaged in the ice cream business. He conceived the idea of coating cakes of ice cream with chocolate and selling it like candy. Then he tried out the new idea but the chocolate wouldn't stick to the ice cream. Surely, he thought, there must be some way of making the two go together.

So he set out to find a way but it was a long and tiresome process. Finally one day he painted a brick of ice cream with ordinary house paint and then dipped it in chocolate. The chocolate stayed on! But folks could hardly be expected to develop a liking for house paint so he was forced to seek further. Finally he hit upon the proper mixture which consists of certain oils.

Making the confection is easy, it is said. The ice cream is sliced into bars, dipped by a hook into hot chocolate and hung upon a moving wire to dry. When it gets to the end of the wire it is wrapped in tinfoil and placed in a refrigerator at zero temperature.

Licenses to make the new confection are sold to concerns all over the country by the Russell Stover company which receives a royalty of 5 cents for every dozen bars made. The company's income is now hundreds of dollars daily.

ROSEBUSH TO HELP ESTABLISH PARK

Appleton Man is Named on Advisory Committee of Northern Lakes Project

Judson G. Rosebush has been named a member of the advisory committee of the Wisconsin Lakes and Parks association which will find ways and means of purchasing a large tract in the northern part of the state to be set aside as the Northern Lakes park. It is expected the committee will plan a campaign to raise funds for this purpose.

Other members of the committee are John Strange, Menasha; President Birge of the state university; John Donald and F. A. Aust of the university faculty; W. O. Hotchkiss, state geologist; Judge M. B. Rosenberry of the supreme court, Judges Belden of Racine and Graus of Green Bay; Lawrence Whitte, Edgerton; Senator C. A. Worden, Ashland; J. J. Phoenix, Delavan; Magnus Swenson, Madison; F. A. Chadbourn, Columbus; Louis Pratt, Wausau; Zora Gale, Portage; Mrs. Fred Koehn, Sheboygan; Mrs. Charles Lamb, Madison; Mrs. L. D. Harvey of Menomonie, representing the Wisconsin Federation of Women's clubs.

Before Feb. 1, county chairman will be selected for every county so that the whole state can be organized for whatever campaign is planned.

OSHKOSH REFUSES TO LICENSE MOTOR BUSES

Oshkosh commission council recently refused to grant the Eastern Wisconsin transportation company licenses to operate three motor buses on the streets of Oshkosh. The vote was 2 to 1.

The two members opposed to granting the licenses objected because they declared the company is not a taxpayer but it competes directly with a public service corporation which does pay taxes. They also insisted that the company's services as a carrier are not needed. The member in favor of granting the licenses argued that motor buses are a public convenience and provide additional transportation facilities.

Why Colds Lead to Pneumonia

When a cold is neglected it attacks the lining of the lungs—then it's pneumonia. Father John's Medicine treats colds and prevents pneumonia because it nourishes the system and drives out the poisonous waste matter—any other way of treating a cold is likely to lead to pneumonia. Not a "cough syrup" or "balm" depending upon dangerous and weakening drugs, but a food medicine and body builder. adv.

Valentine Day Marks Break In Coldest Season

Valentines on display in many of the stores is a reminder that winter is rapidly passing. Valentine day, Tuesday, Feb. 14, is less than three weeks away and on that day it is generally conceded that the severest portion of the winter is over. There are many new designs in valentines this year and there is almost an entire absence of the old comic valentines. The prices differ very little from those of last year. The usual number of valentine parties are being planned for which appropriate decorations are being exhibited in many of the stores.

COLD WEATHER DOESN'T MAKE YOUNGSTERS ANGRY

The cold wave of the last few days has made it impossible to properly heat some of the rooms in the public school buildings, making it necessary to either dismiss the pupils or have them keep on their wraps. The Lincoln school building was one of those effected most and one day several classes of the morning session were dismissed.

As a speaker and religious leader, Dr. Evans was at one time offered the pastorate of one of the largest churches in the west but his intense interest in college work prevented his acceptance although it would have brought him greater financial reward.

"Where Low Prices Prevail"

The STEP on the STAIRS

by ISABEL OSTRANDER

The girl's slender figure did not resemble the splendid, sensuously full lines of the body of Mrs. Vane save in its height, and the face was an indistinguishable blur, but on sudden inspiration Barry rose, still carrying the picture, and going into the studio he turned on the brilliant light within the reflector. Then he drew from his pocket a small but powerful microscope. It proved of little aid beyond showing that the blue object by the girl's side was indeed a large dog, for the photograph was too worn and faded, but on the reverse side the distinction between the pencil marks and pen scratches was plainly visible, and three words written in a round, glibly unformed hand were unmistakably revealed.

"Mopus would move." Then, standing almost on the same spot which the body of Miriam Vane had occupied in front of the easel, Barry used his microscope to scan every inch of the portrait with meticulous care.

Straightening at length with a very grave expression upon his face, he switched off the light in the reflector, leaving only the side brackets in the wall glowing softly, and crossing behind the portrait he passed the model throne and went to the row of windows.

When he raised the shade of one of them, the empty space beyond the narrow strip of garden stood out more distinctly than before and a grayish effluence was spreading over the cloudy sky. The sultry summer dawn was at hand.

Dropping the shade once more, Barry turned and reflectively regarded the back of the portrait upon the easel. The huge square of canvas was blank except for some numbers scrawled in charcoal on the upper left hand corner and a small cross in red paint a little below the center. For some minutes these enigmatic characters occupied the close attention of the sergeant, then he turned off the last of the lights and left the studio, going directly to the outer hall without a second glance toward the boudoir and bedroom.

Big Doane, seated upon the lowest step of the staircase, rose hastily and saluted.

"One of the boys came up, sir, to find out about the light in that studio, but I fixed it with him," he remarked. "Did you find the answer to what was puzzling you, sergeant?"

"If I've found the answer to what was puzzling me, Doane," replied, "I've stumbled on a bigger mystery yet, and a blacker one."

He found at headquarters that Craig had already turned in his report, and the chief was awaiting his own appearance with ill-concealed impatience.

"What do you think?" the chief asked.

"As to the identity of the murderer, sir?" Barry asked, cautiously. "I'm quite certain that several people who might conceivably have killed Mrs. Vane did not do it, and that lets me out for the moment."

However, I took it upon myself to do a little unofficial investigating, and of course, "That's what I expected you to do," the chief interrupted eagerly.

"The medical examiner hasn't performed the autopsy yet, naturally, but from his account of the affair as well as the reports of the boys from the local precinct, and Boyle and Craig, it appears that the Vane woman was shot by some visitor, someone she knew well, and that she had no premonition of the attack. There's one queer point about the murder that the press is bound to pounce on and play up big, and yet I can't see any explanation; I thought perhaps you might have some idea."

"What is that, sir?" Barry's tone was guileless.

"There were no powder marks on the woman's smock, and the medical examiner says that the shot must have been fired from a distance of several feet at least."

The chief nodded. "Now, according to Boyle's report, Professor Semyanov stated that when you and he heard the sound of the shot and opened his door he heard footsteps on the stairs."

Sergeant Barry smiled. "The professor and I have a slight difference of opinion about the direction of the sound of those footsteps; he believes that they were coming up, while I am quite as certain that they were descending," he said.

"However, that's not a main point. You are wrong, I think, sir, though not in the way you mean. Miriam Vane was shot through the heart by someone on the other side of the portrait!"

"What?" The chief sprang from his chair.

"Has anyone given you a description yet of the portrait which Miriam Vane was painting when she met her death, sir?" asked Barry.

"Only that it is a picture of Mrs. Theodore Vansittart."

"Coming down a staircase," Barry finished. "THE THIRD STEP OF THE STAIRS is just on a level with the artist's breast as she sat on a stool before the easel, and there is a bullet hole in the canvas. Miriam Vane was shot through the heart by someone on the other side of the portrait!"

VII

For a moment the chief seemed about to explode with the mingled emotions which consumed him. The next he sank back in his chair and raised his powerful hands, to let them fall with a slam upon his desk.

"A bullet hole through the portrait!" he exclaimed. "And none of those no-account flatfoot dicks, not even the medical examiner himself, had eyes to see it! The reporters would have smoked it out and had a fine laugh on the department if it hadn't been for you, John!"

"No woman deliberately destroys all signs of her former identity unless she has a secret to hide," said Barry, "and I am not certain that some fashion with her life. The previous tragedy was not linked in shot which killed her was not the first to be involved in her destiny."

"The ribbon, dried flowers, lace, and the hair and the locket—why, I suppose every woman treasures just such things in a world over," commented the chief.

"It must have meant something mighty serious to her, and we've got to find out what that something is. The photograph is too faded to be of any use as evidence, and whatever was written on the back has been scratched out long ago."

"Look at it through this, sir," Barry offered his microscope. "The penciled words beneath the ink scrawl are 'Mopus WOULD move. Now, as I make it out, that refers to the blue beside the figure of the girl, which under the glass resolves itself into a large dog of some sort.'"

Barry laid a little packet of sketches before the chief and took his leave. It was broad daylight when he reached the street, and on reaching the antique shop, he found that a crowd had collected before its doors. Bob's temporary successor and the plainclothes men, were sharply interrogating a surly individual who was in the act of unlocking the basement door.

At Barry's approach they greeted him and stepped aside.

"Are you the janitor of this building?" he asked.

"I am, Jacob Kedge by name, and what business is it of yours?" the other replied truculently, eyeing the detective sergeant up and down.

"Come inside," Barry drew him within the entrance door, closing it upon the gaping knot of curious sightseers. "I'm from headquarters. In charge here with Sergeant Craig. I suppose you know that one of your tenants has been murdered?"

"I ought to," Kedge ejaculated. "Your men have been badgering me ever since I got back. It's hard to believe her cold in death! Why it's scarcely twelve hours since I was talking to her!"

"Mrs. Vane knew the other tenants in the house," Barry remarked.

"Not that crazy Russian with the whiskers, but she sometimes spoke to the top-floor tenant, Miss Shaw, when she passed her on the stairs. The young gentleman just above was fair crazy about her, as you could see with half an eye, and Mrs. Vane and Mr. Griswold seemed to be old friends, from even before she came here."

"Indeed!" Barry smiled engagingly. "It seems to me now that he said something about that last night when I interviewed him after Mrs. Vane's death was discovered. Didn't they come originally from the same city?"

"I don't know anything about that. All I know is that Mrs. Vane was American, for all she landed here from France, like that young Mr. Ladd, and she'd no more than got settled than she sent me upstairs with a note for Mr. Griswold, as formal as you please. Surprised, he was, too."

"Yes, he must have been pleased to find that so charming a neighbor was an old friend," Barry's tone was guileless. "I'll warrant he gave you a big tip."

"Tip?" The janitor's reputation was as expressive as an oath. "Well, when I gave him that note and he saw the writing on the envelope he jumped and got a little bit more keen and then rubbed his chin and smiled in that slow way of his. At last he opened the note and read it, and then he told me, still smiling, to tell Mrs. Vane he would do him self the honor of calling on her in a few minutes. I remembered it because it was such a queer, old-fashioned way of putting it."

"And did he call?"

"He did, sir, and he came with great eagerness had crept into the sergeant's voice, and Kedge became suddenly wary."

"How should I know, sir? I delivered his message to Mrs. Vane, and then went about my business."

Barry rose, left him and ascended to the fifth floor.

Professor Semyanov opened the door.

"Did you succeed, sir?" the detective demanded eagerly.

U. S. MARKET PLAN PROPOSED IN BILL

By United Press Leased Wire
Washington—A nationwide farm marketing system would be organized under government supervision by a bill introduced in the senate Tuesday. Senator McCumber, chairman of the finance committee who proposed the measure, declared it would solve the acute situation farmers of the nation now are facing. President Harding strongly endorsed cooperative marketing in his speech to the national agricultural conference Monday.

OPERA HEAD LOOKING FOR HALF MILLION DOLLARS

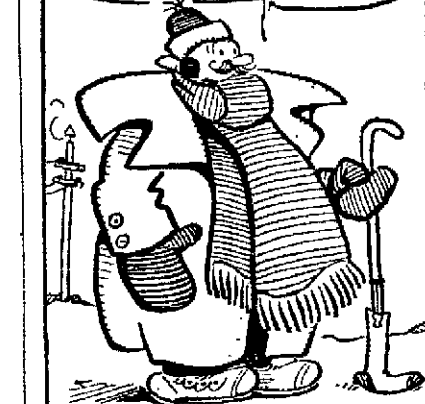

By United Press Leased Wire
Chicago—Half million dollars must be guaranteed for support of the Civic Opera association before contracts with stars will be signed, Samuel Insull, president, said Tuesday. The association, successor to the Chicago Grand Opera company, must be run on a business basis, said Insull.

Harold F. McCormick has spent close to a million dollars on Chicago opera.

Critics are disagreed as to whether Sam Jones or Walter Hoyt is the best curve ball pitcher in the American League.

ROACH LOST TO TEAM BECAUSE OF LOW STANDINGS

High School Squad Badly Crippled by Loss of Star—Play Here Saturday

The high school basketball team received a setback Tuesday morning when it was learned that John Roach, all state guard last year and the main cog in the locals scoring machine, would not be permitted to play for several weeks because of scholastic difficulties. It was announced, however, that Roach would be able to make up back work in his studies within the next few weeks and take his place before the end of the season. Coach A. K. Vincent is rounding Ashman and Kanouse into shape to alternate in the vacant guard position.

Appleton will meet the fast Oshkosh Normal second team at 8:30 Saturday evening in Alexander gymnasium. The second string Normalites have been cutting wide slashes in high school basketball circles. Vincent is giving his men several new plays and drilling his team on offensive work.

The probable lineup for the week-end contest will be: forwards, Zussman and Briese; forwards, Laughlin, center; Ashman Bonini or Berro, guards.

MERCHANTS ARE ASKED TO DONATE TOURNEY PRIZES

Merchandise Will be Given as Good Fellowship Prizes in Tournament

Letters have been sent to all merchants in Appleton by the Elk tournament committee requesting donations of merchandise which can be given as Good Fellowship prizes in the state Elk bowling tournament which opens here Feb. 18. Every man who enters the tournament will be eligible for these prizes. Scores on the alleys will not be counted in their distribution.

The plan of making the awards is to number each article and each man in the tournament. Numbers of the men and of the articles are placed in separate receptacles from which they are drawn near the end of the tournament and the prizes then will be awarded.

F. C. Hyde, jeweler, was the first to donate a prize. He gave a splendid smoking set. Other donations now are being received by the committee.

Secretary James H. Balliet of the tournament committee has received word that Green Bay will send at least 35 and possibly 40 teams to the tourney. They have been given March 25 and 26 as their dates. Other cities also have assured large delegations.

One of the finest prizes is a gold medal, valued at $100, which will be given to the winner in all events. The man scoring the largest total of pins in nine games, rolled in five man, two man and singles events, will be declared the winner.

"Y" CAGE TEAM WHIPS FRESHMEN

The Y. M. C. A. basketball team, opened the Y. M. C. A. Class A cage league Tuesday evening by defeating Lawrence college freshmen, 38 to 18, on the "Y" floor. Schlegel and Boehm were stars for the Y. M. C. A. team, scoring 22 points between them. Kirby and Eummon divided honors for the fresh.

Kimberly-Clark and Appleton high school teams agreed to postpone their first match. The next round of games will be played Jan. 31.

In the Boys Federation league the Y. M. C. A. Dumb-bells won from the Employed Boys brotherhood, 24 to 2. The Y. M. C. A. Indians whipped the Vite Cagers, 38 to 11. Both games were played on the high school gymnasium floor.

Shade Gets Another Chance

DAVE SHADE

Is Jack Britton destined to be dethroned on the evening of Feb. 17? The welterweight champion is scheduled to risk his title on that date with Dave Shade of California. The bout will be 15 rounds to a decision. Many fight fans in the east are not taking the bout seriously. They figure Britton will have no great trouble disposing of the contender. The coming bout will be the second meeting between the two. On June 3, at Portland, Ore., Shade earned a draw in a 10-round bout with Britton. In the fourth round of that encounter, Shade came within one second of being crowned the welterweight champion. Britton was down for the count of nine.

The champion, however, rose before the referee had tolled off the fatal 10. He was badly hurt, but his experience and ring generalship saved him. He went into a clinch, held on until his head cleared and stalled until the bell rang. Britton came up fresh for the fifth round. However, the punch that floored him caused him to respect Shade's wallop. He fought carefully during the remainder of the fight and piled up enough margin to overcome the knock-down and earn a draw. Shade unquestionably has a great chance to win the title. He is only 19 years old. Britton is 35. If youth means anything in this bout, the advantage is certainly all with Shade.

Today's Sport Angle

By Billy Evans
Brute strength is not essential to success in athletics. Dick Kerr, one of the most valuable pitchers in the American League, is the smallest pitcher in the organization.

For years big league managers refused to consider him because of his size, despite the remarkable success he had in the minors.

He got his chance to show in the majors only after giving his ultimatum to his minor league employer that he would have to be sold to a big league team or he would retire.

Kerr was sincere in his intention. His club owner knew it. Kerr was sent to Chicago on the approval basis. It was felt that he would "nigger" and soon be back in dear old Milwaukee.

Kerr knew his own worth better than all the scouts and big league experts. He made good from the very start. It would take a lot of money to pry him loose from the Chicago club.

Glenn Killinger, the sensation of the football world last season, is another example of the theory that size doesn't mean a great deal.

Killinger had the hardest time imaginable getting his high school coach to even let him don a football suit. He was regarded as far too light for likely football timber.

In his final year at Harrisburg high school, his persistence more than any thing else won a place for him on the varsity team.

Knowing he was off size Killinger constantly worked to develop the strength that nature had given him to its highest degree.

He went to Penn State. His size at first caused him to receive only ordinary consideration. It didn't take him long, however, to convince Coach Beadock of his remarkable ability.

In his final year at Penn State, he won the goal of every college football star, a place on the All-American eleven.

New York—Possibility of a Jack Dempsey-Bill Brennan match in Boyle's will known patch over in Jersey loomed up Wednesday with the expected arrival of Jack Kearns here for the purpose of taking on the possibilities of the match with Tex Rickard.

Rickard, however, has troubles of his own today at the west side court and may not be able to see the champion's manager until Thursday.

Chances of a Dempsey-Carpenter fight to be held in London or Paris are not regarded as good. Carpenter's victory over Cook brought the usual crop of rumors to the surface bearing on a possibility of another Dempsey-Carpenter match but Rickard is convinced that neither the public nor the French need another demonstration of the relative merits of the men.

Barley Madden is mentioned as a possibility instead of Brennan. Kearns is known to prefer closing for an early match and Rickard may decide to close the Madison Square garden season with either Madden or Brennan against the champion instead of waiting until the Jersey open air arena can be used.

Cather Bill Killinger of the Cubs is the only playing manager in the National League.

New York—Possibility of a Jack Dempsey-Bill Brennan match in Boyle's will known patch over in Jersey loomed up Wednesday with the expected arrival of Jack Kearns here for the purpose of taking on the possibilities of the match with Tex Rickard.

Rickard, however, has troubles of his own today at the west side court and may not be able to see the champion's manager until Thursday.

Chances of a Dempsey-Carpenter fight to be held in London or Paris are not regarded as good. Carpenter's victory over Cook brought the usual crop of rumors to the surface bearing on a possibility of another Dempsey-Carpenter match but Rickard is convinced that neither the public nor the French need another demonstration of the relative merits of the men.

Barley Madden is mentioned as a possibility instead of Brennan. Kearns is known to prefer closing for an early match and Rickard may decide to close the Madison Square garden season with either Madden or Brennan against the champion instead of waiting until the Jersey open air arena can be used.

SPEEDY BELOIT QUINT TO PLAY HERE ON FRIDAY

State Line School Considered Most Logical Candidate for State Title

Lawrence college basketball tossers will make their second bid for Little Five honors when they meet the fast Beloit collegians Friday evening in Alexander gymnasium. Coach Mills' five has been selected as the safest bet for the title this year, having defeated Coe and Cornell, by tidy margins within the last few weeks. Beloit defeated Carroll, 29 to 17 last week end and displayed flashes of championship caliber.

Due to the playing of an ineligible player the last few minutes of the game, through an error in understanding by Coach Mills, Beloit has filed a formal forfeiture of the game to Carroll which has refused to accept. The matter will be officially decided at the meeting of conference officials in the spring.

Coach McChesney of the Lawrence squad has been putting his men through a grueling practice week in anticipation of a hard game. The Friday evening encounter will have a direct bearing on the state honors as a win by the local quint will put it on top of percentage list.

Beloit and Carroll college athletic heads are good sports. Last week Beloit defeated Carroll in a basketball game by a substantial score, but shortly after the game Beloit announced that it would forfeit the game to Carroll because Beloit had entered a player, who was ineligible, in the last few minutes of play. The man was entered because of a misunderstanding of the rules but Beloit didn't want the game under those circumstances. Carroll, however, refused to accept the forfeit, declaring that Beloit had won anyhow. Neither wished to take any advantage of the other. Now it is up to the athletic board of the Little Five to determine who shall be credited with the game.

The state boxing commission handed the Mitchells a thirty day suspension for their part in the Leonard fight. The Edgar fight board dated the ban from the day of the bout, Jan. 2 so the Milwaukeeans haven't very much longer to remain idle. The Mitchells were censured for not announcing Pinky's condition earlier. If this had been done, hundreds of fans from out of town wouldn't have made a futile trip to Milwaukee.

The announcement that Bill Spaulding had been engaged to coach Minnesota's football team came like a shot out of a clear day. It was doped out that the Gophers were hot on the trail of one of the "Big Fellows" in the pigskin game. Spaulding has turned out winners consistently for a number of years at Kalamazoo Normal and in Wolverine sport circles he is rated highly. It will be interesting to watch his success in faster company.

No American League player has ever stolen 100 bases. Ty Cobb came closest in 1915 when he pilfered 96.

RIPON COLLEGE STARS DECIDE TO GO WITH FONDY

Dame Unable to Land Gustin and Herbst for His Professional Team

George Dame's professional basketball team suffered another disappointment when it was learned that Gustin and Herbst, Ripon college stars who recently were barred by the athletic officials at Ripon from appearing in athletic competition in intercollegiate contests, due to participation in professional basketball games, would not wear the Appleton colors. They received an attractive offer from the Fond du Lac team of the Central Wisconsin Basketball league and have decided to play with that squad.

However Appleton will start the game against the Twin City Boosters in S. A. Cook Armory, Neenah, Wednesday evening with one of the strongest lineups this year. Ellinger, who was the main cog in the Kiel aggregation will start at guard for the locals.

Mr. Dame has announced the probable lineup for the mid-week contest in the Twin Cities will be Ellinger and Anderson, guards; Loose or Thomas, center; Chapple and Burch, forwards.

Word from the Twin City Booster camp is to the effect that the Legionaires are prepared to give the locals a trimming and retain their position at the head of the Central Wisconsin Basketball league percentage list.

The Neenah lineup probably will be as follows: Gerhardt and Spangler, or Madsen, forwards; Wall, center; Fay and Kuehl, guards.

MRS. KINSMAN IS AGAIN ELIGIBLE FOR PRESIDENCY

Womans Club Set Aside Bylaws to Enable Her to Continue in Her Office

Mrs. D. O. Kinsman, president of Appleton Womans club will again be eligible for the presidency of the club as a result of a resolution adopted at the regular meeting at the clubroom Tuesday evening to set aside the by-laws providing that no member is eligible to the same office more than two years in succession. The change was made to refer only to the office of president.

Sentiment, which has been felt in the club for some time concerning the great need which the club has for an efficient leader as Mrs. Kinsman brought about the action to set aside the by-laws. At the meeting on Tuesday evening, Mrs. Kinsman said that she would not consider a third term and that she had been looking forward to having a capable successor who would continue the work of the club. The nominating committee will be appointed at the next board meeting.

A larger number of members were present than usual Tuesday evening. Announcements were made by the various departments. Mrs. S. C. Shannon reported for the stunt committees "Town Topics" at Oshkosh. The committee was satisfied with the production which will be put on here by local talent on Feb. 27 and 28. The piece contains good music, pretty dancing and much fun and is above the average home talent musical show. Mrs. Rush Winslow read the play "Disraeli", in a delightful manner. Community singing formed the remainder of the program.

ROADS IMPASSABLE TO TRUCK TRAFFIC

With the exception of a few main traveled thoroughfares practically all of the highways of the county are impassable for automobiles and motor trucks and even for sleighs. As a result city people are unable to get into the country and farmers are unable to get to town. The business men hit the hardest are the distributors of gasoline and oils whose motor trucks under ordinary conditions make daily trips into the county. At present the distribution is confined almost exclusively to the city. The United Consumers Corporation has had one of its heavy trucks stalled in a farm yard near McCarty's crossing between Kaukauna and DePere for the last three weeks and the indications are it will remain there until spring. Other oil trucks have attempted country trips but were compelled to turn back. The heavy motor trucks of George Walter Browning Co. have also experienced trouble in covering their territory.

NEED THIRD GAME TO DETERMINE CHAMPION

St. Joseph school basketball team was defeated by scout troop No. 4 at Appleton high school Tuesday evening, 15 to 8. Each team has a game to its credit, the first game having been won by the former team by a score of 16 to 15. The third game promises to be the most exciting of the series. The lineup of St. Joseph team Tuesday night was Edward Steenis, center; Clement Boehme and Henry Alferi, forwards; Julian Rath and Bernard Langenberg, guards. Troop 4 played with David Bender, center; William Mehl and Derel Aylesworth, forwards; Paul Gehlke and Gerlach, guards.

KEMPFFERT IS GIVEN PHARMACIST DEGREE

Clarence E. Kempffert of Appleton was granted a state certificate as assistant pharmacist following the examination held in Madison Saturday by the state board of control. Twenty-four others received similar certificates and 24 were certified as registered pharmacists. There were 84 applicants at the examination. The next meeting of the state board will be from April 18 to 21.

COOPERATIVE COMPANY BECOMES CORPORATION

Articles of incorporation of the Dale Cooperative Shipping company of Dale have been filed with the register of deeds. The company was organized early in January. Under the articles the company will engage in the shipment of livestock and farm produce under the management of five directors. The articles are signed by F. J. Emmons, R. R. Griswold, J. H. Loppa, George A. Floetz and J. D. Hottel. A number of farmers living in the vicinity of Dale are named as members of the corporation.

Play Is Pleasing
"Adam and Eva," a new play of American life pleased another large audience at Appleton theatre Tuesday evening when it was presented by the Frank Winslow Comedy company. The organization is one of merit and the plays which it is presenting are all late royalty releases. "Never Say Die," will be given Wednesday evening. Matinees have been arranged for Saturday and Sunday.

CITY MADE FINE SHIPPING RECORD

Express Company Congratulates Appleton on Its Splendid Showing

W. N. Kimball, local agent of the American Railway Express Co., has received from his company a pamphlet containing the complete result of the perfect package campaign conducted by railway and express companies during the month of November.

It shows the number of shipments forwarded by freight in Appleton to be 4,462 with 68 exceptions, and the number of express shipments 2,554 with 13 exceptions.

In a letter to the local agent the officers of the company said:

"The perfect package campaign was a great success. We feel that you and your committee are to be congratulated on the results achieved in your city in this splendid work."

"We desire also to express our appreciation of the splendid cooperation extended to us by the shippers' organizations of the country, and we believe that lasting benefits will result from the perfect package movement."

LIFTED TOURISTS FOR MANY YEARS

Washington. — There isn't a man or woman in the whole United States who has a job just like that of J. B. Evans.

Evans runs the elevator that takes tourists to the top of the Washington monument here, in the world's highest obelisk. And he's been on the same job 42 years.

My work never gets old," Evans says. "If I added up all the miles I've traveled up and down on this elevator, I would be three times around the world."

Evans says: "I've carried up enough people to populate New York city—everybody from kings to African savages!"

DENVER CAGERS DEFEAT BEAR CREEK CITY TEAM

Bear Creek—Bear Creek was furnished a real treat in basketball Sunday evening when Manager Brisco secured the Denver A. C.'s, one of the best teams in the country. The cold weather prevented a record crowd. The score was 40 to 12 in Denver's favor. The next basketball game will be against Marion here Wednesday Feb. 1. The "Rebels" expect to make it a doubleheader if an opposing team can be secured.

NEW AUTOMOBILE HOOD TO PROTECT MOTOR MADE HERE

Fred V. Heinemann and David Seekins Seek Patents on Their Invention

An automobile hood cover and motor protector which has several features not found in hood covers now on the market has been designed by Fred V. Heinemann and David Seekins and application has been made for a patent.

Probably the outstanding feature of the new cover is that it has visible attachments and that it stays put. Once properly fastened, there is said to be no possibility of its coming off as the ends and corners are carefully secured. With the hood goes a "boot" which is attached under the motor in such a way that together with the hood it entirely encases the motor and prevents the escape of heat at the same time shutting out the cold. This is a feature which no other cold weather motor protector has, it is said.

READY FOR MANUFACTURE
The inventors now have equipment to manufacture hoods and hoods for any make of automobile in Appleton but aside from supplying local needs they do not expect to place any of the new covers on the market this season. So far eight patents have been granted for cold weather motor covers but they are simply hood covers and do not cover the entire motor as the new design does.

Ideas were conceived by Mr. Heinemann and Mr. Seekins a few weeks ago when they prepared their machines for winter use. It happened that they had hood covers were not fit for further use so they decided that instead of buying any of the covers now on the market they would invent a better one for themselves.

So far in spite of temperatures far below zero it is said the new protector keeps the engine warm enough to develop maximum power. About a dozen covers have already been turned out and attention is now being turned to perfection of the device.

SELECT DATES FOR DISTRICT MEETING

Clergy and Laymen of Methodist Church Will Hold Three Group Conferences

Group meetings of the clergy and laymen of the Appleton district of the Methodist Episcopal church will take place on Feb. 8, 9, and 10 at Wausau, Antigo and Appleton respectively.

At the Appleton meeting on Friday, Feb. 10, more than 30 clergy will attend and a larger number of laymen. Each minister has been urged to bring as many laymen delegates as possible.

The program for each group meeting will include the same speakers. Social features for the Appleton meeting have not yet been arranged. The speakers on the afternoon program include: Dr. C. I. Andrews, Billings, Mont.; Dr. W. T. Hobart, China; Dr. W. A. C. Hughes, a colored minister, Dr. John T. Jenkins, St. Paul. The speaker of the evening sessions will be Dr. H. Lester Smith of Bangalore, India.

SEEK MISSING HEAD OF SHAWANO-CO. SCHOOLS
Special to the Post-Crescent
Shawano—Police here on Tuesday began a state wide search for Cora Simonson, 28 years old, pretty superintendent of Shawano county schools, who disappeared mysteriously on Jan. 6 and who has not been heard from since.

Chief W. A. McDonnell has asked authorities throughout Wisconsin to join him in the search. Friends and relatives of the missing woman are completely at sea over her absence.

On Friday, Jan. 6 Miss Simonson left for Wittenburg, Wis., to spend the weekend at the home of her parents, but never reached her destination. She was traced as far as Eland, thirty miles from here, but officials have been unable to find even a clue as to where she went from there.

Former Appleton Man Is Designer For Miss Farrar

Alban Kramer is Included Among Persons Who Have Made Appleton Famous

When Miss Edna Ferber spoke in Appleton about two months ago, she said: "Everywhere from Alaska to Florida, from Rome to Munich, from New York to San Francisco, you meet someone who knows about Appleton."

There are a number of reasons why Appleton is well known. And not the least of these reasons is the number of now famous men and women who have made their homes in this city for a part of their lives. It is difficult to decide which of these people deserves first place, for the fields in which they have become known are almost as numerous as the people themselves.

Probably one of the best known is Miss Ferber herself. Miss Ferber was not born in Appleton, but made her home here from the time she was eight years old until she graduated from high school. Today one would experience considerable difficulty in finding a public library which did not have Miss Ferber's books in circulation.

Moreover, "The Girls," her latest book, has been listed as one of Chicago's six best sellers in fiction.

A son of Appleton who distinguished himself in another field is the late Dr. John B. Murphy. Dr. Murphy received his common school and high school education in Appleton. After he had become one of the most famous surgeons in America, he occasionally returned to his home town to visit.

GREATEST ENTERTAINER
There is a wide difference between a famous surgeon and a "handoff king," but Appleton has produced both. Harry Houdini, whose remarkable ability to free himself from locked chests and fetters of all kinds, has made him famous, is the son of a former Rabbi of Appleton, and was born here. Houdini ranks among the greatest entertainers of the age.

A brother and sister, Chas. Lumis and Harriet Lumis Smith, son and daughter of a former Lawrence professor, also have become well known. Mrs. Smith has written a number of interesting stories. Her brother is an archeologist of some note.

Following these are two singers, both of whom spent their childhood in Appleton, and who have since become known on the concert stage. They are Mrs. Emma Patten Hoyt and Mrs. Luella Melius.

A man who has not been the subject of much comment as some of the others, but is a leader in his vocation, is Alban Kramer. Mr. Kramer is a fashion designer in New York. People who have heard Geraldine Farrar in concert, marvel at her gowns, but few know that most of these gowns were designed by Mr. Kramer.

This is probably only a partial list of noted people who have called Appleton their home at some time during their lives, but it is enough to show that Appleton has a right to be proud of some of her children.

FRENCH WILL SPEAK AT W. C. T. U. MEETING
A business meeting of the Woman's Christian Temperance union will be held at the home of Mrs. N. H. Brisco, 544 Union-st., at 2:30 Thursday afternoon. It will be followed by a parlor meeting at 3 o'clock at which the program will be rendered:

Musio, Miss Northway of Lawrence conservatory; reading, Miss Agnes Arnold; address, "Law Enforcement," D. P. French, field worker of the Anti-Saloon league; musical reading, Philip and Dorothy Orstein; reading, Martin Joslin; piano solo, Russell Hayden.

Men are invited to hear Mr. French's address.

DREXLER AND LA FOND WIN BILLIARD MATCH
Leslie Drexler and Albert La Fond won from H. Leithen and H. Brown, 125 to 55, in a match game of pocket billiards in the Carr and Hansen billiard parlors Tuesday evening. George Hoffman refereed the contest.

Drexler and LaFond have challenged any two pocket billiard players in the city to a match game of 100 points. It is believed their challenge will be quickly accepted.

EQUITY HOLDS ITS ANNUAL MEETING
In spite of the almost impassable condition of many of the roads in Outagamie county, a large number of farmers are in Appleton Wednesday to attend the annual meeting of the Outagamie county union of the American Society of Equity. The morning session at the courthouse was brief and was devoted to getting committees started in their work.

The principal session opened in the courthouse at 1 o'clock in the afternoon. Much business of importance was to be transacted, including election of officers.

FELT LIKE SHE WOULD SUFFER ALL HER LIFE
Aged Detroit Woman Tried So Many Different Medicines Without Relief She Became Discouraged.

"Tanlac Did So Much For Me I Want Everybody to Profit By My Experience," Says Mrs. Smith

"You can tell me that Tanlac is the right medicine for old folks, too, for I have tried it myself and have never known its equal in all the seventy years of my life," was the statement made, recently, by Mrs. W. J. Smith, of 606 Temple Ave., Detroit, Mich.

"I have been troubled with gastritis for many years and when I began taking Tanlac I was in an extremely weak, run-down condition. I could not eat anything but what would ferment and cause bloating and gas from which I suffered untold misery. This condition weakened me to such an extent that I could barely get around and look after my household duties. I had tried so many medicine with no results that I became discouraged and felt that I would have to suffer the rest of my life."

"One day I came across a Tanlac testimonial that described my case, so well I began taking the medicine myself and it's a fact, I felt better before I had finished the first bottle. My appetite returned, my digestion gradually improved and I kept getting stronger every day. I have taken seven bottles of Tanlac now and am like a different person. The gas and bloating have just about stopped and I have not felt so strong and energetic in many years. I am glad for everybody to have the benefit of my experience with Tanlac. It certainly is a grand medicine."

Tanlac is sold in Appleton by Voigt Drug Co. and by leading druggists everywhere.

SULPHUR SOOTHES UGLY, ITCHING SKIN
The First Application Makes Skin Cool and Comfortable

If you are suffering from eczema or some other torturing, embarrassing skin trouble you may quickly be rid of it by using Mentho-Sulphur, declares a noted skin specialist.

This sulphur preparation, because of its germ destroying properties, seldom fails to quickly subdue itching, even of fiery eczema. The first application makes the skin cool and comfortable. Rash and blotches are healed right up. Mentho-Sulphur is applied like any pleasant cold cream and is perfectly harmless. You can obtain a small jar from any good druggist.

FOND DU LAC INVITES UNDERTAKERS' CONFAB

Wisconsin Funeral Directors Association May Hold Its Annual Convention in Fond du Lac Next Summer. The executive committee of the association recently visited Fond du Lac and declared it was considering either Fond du Lac or Milwaukee as the next meeting place.

It is expected that 200 funeral directors and embalmers will attend the 3-day convention and there will be a large attendance of traveling salesmen who deal in undertaking supplies.

P. J. VanAlstyne and B. W. Pierce have returned from Milwaukee, where they attended the automobile show.
